Budget Reveals Large Welfare Increase

$1.6 Million Hike Seen in County Taxes

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County taxpayers will have to ante up $1.6 million more in taxes to pay for the cost of government in 1974 with the largest chunk going to pay for welfare—almost $14.5 million, about $2.4 million more than this year.

The budget, which was unveiled late Wednesday afternoon, and which will be aired at a public hearing Tuesday, Nov. 20 at 7 p.m. in the County Office Building, totals $37,711,116, up from this year's $32.6 million gross budget. It is estimated that $9.7 million will have to be raised by taxes compared to $8.1 million in 1973.

Welfare costs are up in all areas with the new infirmary adding $197,068 to the budget. Infirmary annex costs have increased $64,040 and the County Home budget is up $19,028.

There are increased costs for medical assistance, aid to the disabled and blind and aid to dependent children, which has increased $137,500, costing the county $1,250,000. Just two years ago, the cost of aid to dependent children was $731,000.

Just how much money taxpayers will have to pay for the increases will depend on several things—equalization rates and the amount of increased assessed valuation in each community of the county.

The office of the Legislature pointed out that the assessed value of the entire county has increased to close to $16 million and for the first time in the county's history, the full value of the county has exceeded $1 billion.

As revealed Tuesday, the county has raised the minimum wage of its employes to $5,000. About 200 of its employes earn less than that now, some as low as $3,613, about half of them are engaged in the welfare department work and many of whom are on welfare themselves. All employes will receive 5.5 per cent wage hikes.

Hoping that the increases for low salaried employes will help remove them from the welfare rolls and in turn save taxpayers money, Legislative Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) said the need for the increases was "critical . . . so we moved ahead."

Total support of the salary hikes also came today from James J. Lennon, vice president of the Regional Office of the Civil Service Employes Association who urged the public to "support this laudable action which relates to the economic needs of the county employes." Lennon also urged that a wage and salary classification study be made in the future.

Other proposed increases include $56,080 for Family Court, where an additional judge has been added to the department; the creation of a new building department adds about $49,600 to the budget and the police communications system wholeheartedly endorsed by the Legislature, will cost an additional $425,245, the greater portion of which is fedcrally funded.

There are also increased costs for education at Ulster County Community College and increased personnel at the county jail and infirmary.

Estimated revenues amount to $3.7 million from the one per cent county sales tax and $414,133 from the state under county per capita aid.

The gross figure will be decreased by a total of $27,991,652 and fund balances of $2,630,000.

The county's total indebtedness is $3,571,500 for such things as the new jail and infirmary, work on the Ulster County Community College athletic field, funds for county bridges, the purchase of St. George's Property for a county park, the purchase of heavy highway equipment and road construction.

The county board contemplates increasing its donation to the Ulster Conuty Libraries by $10,000 to $30,000 and upping the contribution to the county's senor citizens an additional $20,000.

It will also raise the salaries of the county chairman from $8,738 to $10,500; for the majority leader from $4,660 to $5,500 and for the minority leader from $4,311 to $5,000.

The remaining 30 legislators are slated to have their yearly stipend raised slightly from $3,840 to $4,000.

The total budget recommended for the Legislature totals $184,550.

Two Found Shot to Death, Apparent Murder, Suicide

By MATT SPIRENG

TOWN OF WAWARSING

An investigation is underway today into what state police are terming an apparent murder and suicide after the bodies of a man and woman were found Wednesday night on Mt. Cathalia Road in the Town of Wawarsing. Each had been shot in the head.

The deceased were identified as Sigrid Soine, 28, of 96 Kohring Circle, Harrington Park, N. J., and Alfred David Vanderburgh, 30, of Searsville Road, Montgomery.

Ellenville State Police BCI investigators said they received a report at about 6 p.m. from a passing motorist who said he had seen the body of a man lying next to a car on Mt. Cathalia Road.

At the scene, police found Miss Soine slumped over in the passenger seat of a 1966 Mustang. Vanderburgh was lying on the ground next to the open door on the driver's side of the car.

Investigators said a .22-caliber automatic rifle believed to have caused the death was found lying next to Vanderburgh's body, between him and the car.

State Police said Miss Soine had been previously married and divorced and was using her maiden name. The martial status of Vanderburgh has not been definitely determined, police said today.

The time of the deaths is believed to be between 5:30 and 6 p.m. State Police said their investigation has revealed a woman motorist who reported driving past the parked car at 5:30 p.m. and seeing only a man sitting in it, indicating Vanderburgh was still alive at that time.

Senior BCI Investigator Fred Leibe of the Ellenville barracks, said it is believed that Vanderburgh first shot Miss Soine and then turned the rifle on himself.

According to police, Vanderburgh apparently got out of the car before shooting himself. The car was not running, and was parked in a grassy field about 50 feet off Mt. Cathalia Road, police said.

It had not yet been definitely determined today how many times each of the deceased had been shot, police said. An autopsy was scheduled to be performed at the Ulster County Morgue to which the bodies were taken from the scene.

Police said the ownership of the rifle found at the scene has not yet been determined.

No notes from either of the deceased have been found, police said, and attempts are underway to determine a motive, if there is one, in the apparent murder and suicide.

Leibe said it is believed at present that Miss Soine and Vanderburgh had been sitting in the car for at least an hour before their bodies were found, but he gave no indication as to reasons behind that theory.

Police said the motorist who reported seeing Vanderburgh's body lying next to the car did not get out of his vehicle to investigate before reporting to police.

Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp said today he is withholding verdicts in the case pending the outcome of the autopsies.

Investigator Leibe said Miss Soine was employed as a cashier at Grossinger's Hotel in Liberty. Vanderburgh was employed with Electronic Tabulating Corporation in Newburgh, apparently as a salesman, Leibe said.

State Police said the death scene was about two miles from the intersection of Mt. Cathalia Road with Route 52, and about 2½ miles from the Village of Ellenville.

Initial reports that the man and woman were seen talking in the car at about 5:30 p.m. were denied by BCI investigators. Reports that the motorist who contacted state police saw two bodies were also denied.

Police had initially withheld identification of the deceased pending notification of next of kin.

Coroner Chipp indicated that it appeared that Vanderburgh and Miss Soine had only been shot once each, but a final determination could only be made through the autopsies.

Police scoured the death scene throughout part of the night in attempts to come up with any additional clues that might be present.

HAPPY TRAIL'S END—After 166 days in the saddle, Sally Howell, Diana Siderides and Debbie Parker (L-R) arrive in Ventura, Calif. Their 3,400 mile cross-country trek on horseback began May 28 in New York, shortly after the trio graduated from the school of horse husbandry at the State University College at Morrisville. Sally lives in Rome, Debbie in Rochester and Diana in Cherry Hill, N.J., but no one has said if the girls plan a quicker and more comfortable passage back home. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Nixon Submits to More Questioning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With increased emphasis on his determination to stay on the job and convince Congress and the nation he had no role in Watergate or its cover-up, President Nixon submitted today to more questioning by 78 Republican congressmen.

Reversing dramatically his previous strategy of only occasional public appearances and statements during the crisis caused by the scandal, the President had a rush schedule including four major appearances—three with congressmen.

In addition, he will make three speeches outside Washington in a period of four to five days beginning this weekend—all in the South. The President also was described as planning more televised news conferences and submitting to more interviews by both broadcasters and newspaper reporters.

A breakfast session with the second group of House GOP members preceded a speech to a realtors convention—Nixon's first such appearance in nearly two months. It was to be followed by lunch with a group of Democratic congressmen and an early evening session with the last one-third of the GOP senators.

House members and senators who attended White House meetings came away with reports of Nixon's absolute insistence that he would not resign. Many said Nixon expressed confidence that once the people understand the whole story of Watergate, they will not hold him responsible.

Related stories, photo on page 42.

It has been reported that one way Nixon has considered putting his story across was public disclosure of contents of his Watergate tape recordings and other material.

Judge John J. Sirica ruled Wednesday that as far as he was concerned, the President could go ahead and release them. The White House said Nixon has the matter under study.

The greatly increased presidential exposure is intended, according to one White House official, as part of a concerted campaign by Nixon of "taking the offensive in every form possible" to counter allegations on Watergate.

One of the President's staunch supporters who attended a Wednesday night meeting with Nixon, Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., said he agreed with the apparent Nixon strategy to "take direct action to let the people see what went on behind the scenes."

"I'm sure that from a purely legal standpoint, many of the things he has done have been defensible," Bellmon said. "But in the eyes of a lot of ordinary citizens, it appears that he's hiding something. The reasons he gives — while they may make good legal sense — don't make any sense to the ordinary person who thinks the facts ought all to be spread on the table so we can know what happened."

The last of Nixon's scheduled meetings with GOP congressmen is scheduled for Friday morning. Either later Friday or on Saturday, the President plans to speak at a meeting in Orlando, Fla., of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association. On Sunday, he has an appearance scheduled at Macon, Ga., marking the 90th birthday of former Rep. Carl M. Vinson, D-Ga., and on Tuesday he speaks to the National Republican Governors Conference in Memphis.

The matter of the tapes came up at the two-hour, 40-minute Wednesday night Q-and-A session Nixon had with 14 Republican senators.

THAT'S THE LIMIT—Thruway Authority worker Paul Doran tack new 50 MPH speed limit on sign along the northbound lane of the Thruway near New Paltz Wednesday. Officials said all of the Thruway's 340 speed control signs have been changed, and state police have been ordered to begin cracking down on violators. The old speed limit was 65; the 15 MPH reduction is expected to significantly conserve gasoline consumption . . . but only if motorists cooperate. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Quick Action Urged on Energy Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders urged their colleagues today to move with haste and approve a bill to grant President Nixon emergency powers to meet the energy crisis.

"This is an antifreeze bill," Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, said at the outset of debate on the measure. "The big thing now is to get going so we can get wheels rolling in this country and get the heat we need."

Amendments were prepared by both Republicans and Democrats to the bill that would give Nixon power to conserve energy by such means as imposing lower highway speed limits, suspending clean air requirements and ration fuels, including gasoline. Scott urged that the amendments be to the point, with a minimum of talk.

The first such amendment, which would call on the President to give special consideration in fuel allocations to those states or regions depressed economically, with high unemployment or lacking adequate transportation for fuel delivery, was adopted by voice vote.

A bill passed by Congress earlier this week authorizing construction of the Alaska pipeline will be signed by Nixon at 10:30 a. m. Friday.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who has been critical of what he said was Nixon's slowness in reacting to the energy crisis, also urged haste. He noted that the last tanker carrying Mideast oil prior to imposition of the Arab oil embargo would arrive at an American port next week.

Mansfield said there may be no more Mideast oil "for months." But he said the energy crisis would have occurred regardless of what happened in the Mideast.

Mansfield opposed suggestions for a stiff tax on gasoline to discourage automobile travel, saying it would put the burden of taxation on the poor. He said rationing was a better alternative.

Despite proddings of the leaders of both parties, a bipartisan effort to solve the crisis ran into some problems.

Republicans on the Senate Interior Committee issued an angry minority report saying they were not allowed to write any provisions increasing the energy supply into the emergency bill.

They said the bill as written by the Democrats deals only with conserving energy.

"Many of the provisions . . . could do violence to the economy, the rights of U.S. citizens and the preservation of our democratic institutions," the report said.

One GOP committee member, Sen. Dewey F. Bartlett of oil producing Oklahoma, said the bill, which incorporates many of President Nixon's proposals, is "a camouflage for no action . . . (and) demonstrates again the reluctance of Congress to address the real problem — lack of sufficient domestic energy supplies."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., Interior Committee chairman, said he hoped the debate would be guided by the adage "the best politics is no politics."

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Nixon had made the issue a "political confrontation" by blaming a Democratic Congress for inaction on the energy crisis.

The administration, Mansfield said, "has been too late" in making its proposals, "and its response may now also be too little."

The Senate did, however, send Nixon a second major piece of energy legislation Wednesday. It requires Nixon to prepare and implement a program to allocate fuels on the wholesale level.

In other developments Wednesday:

—Chairman Herbert Stein of the Council of Economic Advisers suggested higher taxes on gasoline and other energy sources to help increase supplies.

—Nixon directed his energy advisor, John Love, to meet with a special task force and report to him today on steps being taken to conserve energy. Love, meanwhile, appeared at House Commerce committee hearings on the emergency energy legislation and said enforcement of the bill's provisions was not going to be "easy or pleasant."

Launch Countdown Proceeding

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Launch crewmen rolled smoothly through the countdown on a weather-marred but still reliable Saturn rocket today while three rookie astronauts took it easy before boarding a jam-packed spacecraft for a Friday takeoff on the Skylab 3 mission.

Despite structural defects in the booster rocket that caused two delays in the launch, space agency officials and astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue were confident of an on-time launch at 9:01 a.m. EDT Friday.

"We have more than an adequate safety margin for the flight," said Kennedy Space Center launch director Walter J. Kapryan.

Marine Lt. Col. Carr, 41, civilian scientist Gibson, 37, and Air Force Lt. Col. Pogue, 43, were due for a minus-one-day brief physical checkup today and then planned to relax the rest of the day, either visiting the launch pad or going flying in swift T38 jet trainers.

Their mission will last at least 60 days and perhaps as long as 85 days, aboard the Skylab space station in orbit around the earth, and will be America's last manned spaceflight before the joint earth orbital mission with Soviet astronauts in 1975.

Motels around the spaceport were filling up but crowds watching the astronauts takeoff are expected to be among the smallest to witness a manned launch. The space agency said, however, that some 40,000 workers, VIPs and other guests are expected to watch the launch from the spaceport itself.

At Launch Complex 39, 42,000 gallons of high-grade kerosene, drained from the first stage of the Saturn 1B launch vehicle last week so that its eight crack-marred tail fins could be replaced, were poured back into the 22-story rocket late Wednesday. During the early hours today, the rocket's flight batteries were installed.

Engineers also finished stowing 1,938 pounds of equipment in the modified Apollo spacecraft poised on top of the Saturn. The stowage list includes television cameras, lenses, film and 300-calorie candylike food bars which Carr and his crew will use to supplement their meals if they get a go-ahead to extend their Skylab live-in from 60 to as long as 85 days.

Farm Bureau Supports Daylight Time

KERHONKSON — After urging that environmental controls be relaxed to help conserve energy, the New York State Farm Bureau went a step further Wednesday and threw its support behind a proposal to establish Daylight Saving Time on a year-round basis.

That resolution adopted by the delegates at their annual meeting at the Granit Hotel in Kerhonkson was a strict departure from earlier positions. In the past, the state Farm Bureau had strongly opposed suggestions that Daylight Saving Time be imposed 12 months a year.

"We recognize that the present energy crisis affects rural and urban dwellers alike," said Farm Bureau President Richard McGuire, "and that it will take mutual cooperation if we are to resolve the problem."

The Daylight Saving Time proposal, it is felt, would hamper farm workers more than any other group. One of the reasons the Standard Time plan was implemented was to provide additional early morning daylight in the wintertime for the convenience of the farming industry.

Earlier in the statewide convention, which ended Wednesday afternoon, the delegates approved resolutions urging immediate construction of the Alaskan oil pipeline and intensified off-shore oil drilling., And they recommended that environmental controls should not be allowed to stand in the way of efforts to replenish America's dwindling energy reserves.

As an example of "extremist environmental standards," McGuire cited recent federal legislation which controls exhaust emissions from automobiles. "Emission controls on automobiles were claimed by the scientific field to be able to reduce emissions 50 per cent on a per gallon basis," he said Wednesday, "They have reduced the emissions, but also increased the use of fuel by 50 per cent. It doesn't take a scientist to figure out that that has had an influence on the energy crisis."

In another move that contradicts earlier sentiment of statewide organization, the delegates adopted a resolution calling for "an end to the talk" about the impeachment or resignation of President Nixon.

McGuire stated, "It is apparent to all of us that after these weeks of extreme pressure, if there was legal, constitutional grounds for impeachment then it would be a fact."

McGuire urged that Congress "get on with solving this problem because the injury to the American public is the inaction of the government which is the result of the problem. This may be more serious than the problem itself."

Although McGuire said that no solid basis for impeachment has been established, he added that the Farm Bureau's position was not intended as a vindication of the President.

The Farm Bureau, in the past, has been highly critical of the Nixon administration. In particular, it has taken strong exception to the government's wage and price controls, claiming that they have distorted the farm market. In fact, the delegates approved a resolution on Tuesday criticizing the government's practice of storing large quantities of grain and wheat, and urged that reserves be depleted.

Area Advisory Board Requests Project Funds

STONE RIDGE — A request for funds by the Marbletown-Olive-Hurley-Rosendale Advisory Board to continue programs previously offered by Ulster County Community Action highlighted Wednesday's meeting of the Marbletown Town Board.

Cancellation of federal funds through the Office of Economic Opportunity has spelled the demise of the Community Action program. The MOHR Advisory Board, which has already been turned down in its request for funding by the Ulster County Legislature, has now turned to local townships for financial support.

Spokesmen for the group said Wednesday night they need $15,000 to keep the program alive after June, 1974. They hope to obtain at least part of the necessary money from the four townships it serves.

The group said it assisted 1,838 persons in the four townships during the year, including 486 who were provided emergency transportation and 259 who were assisted in filling out applications for food stamp assistance. The group has also counseled senior citizens with personal problems and aided persons in finding decent housing in the county.

Supervisor Kenneth Smith said the town's budget for 1974 has already been finalized, but indicated a willingness to assist the organization for the following year. In the meantime, MOHR will provide the town with additional information on its programs, goals and financial structure.

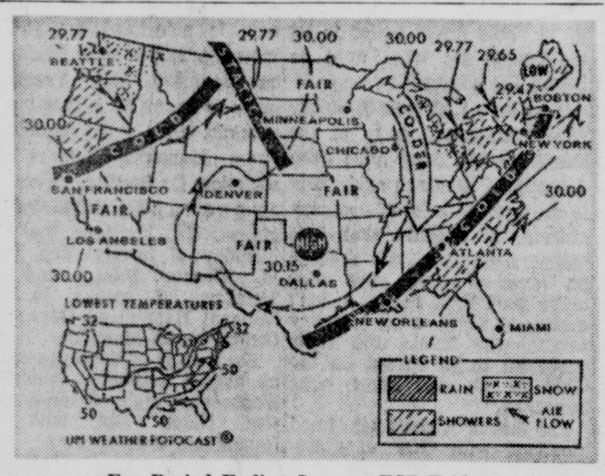

In other matters, the town board received a telegram from Governor Rockefeller asking that it use its influence to reduce speed limits in the township as an energy-saving measure. But it was noted that there are no town roads with a speed limit above 50 MPH anyway. The highway department, however, was asked to take whatever steps it can to save fuel.

A communication was also received from Charles Arnold, Ulster County's Civil Defense Director, stating that his department would try to assist any town residents who are having difficulty obtaining home heating oil. But Smith said it's his belief that those people who can't get fuel are the ones who aren't paying their bills on time.

In money matters, the town board voted to advertise for bids for toilet facilities at the town park. The town is planning on an investment of about $5,000, said Smith. And the town agreed to purchase bonds to pay for a new $15,964 sander and snow plow, as well as two additional sand and salt spreaders, which cost $7,372 together.

Supervisor Smith also noted that a public hearing will be scheduled shortly on an offer by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. to give the town — at no cost — its abandoned generating plant property in High Falls. The property would be developed as a recreational facility.

And the Marbletown Environmental Conservation Commission issued a report on its activities for the year. Chairman Marjorie Dunbar said 23.7 tons of glass, 24.7 tons of paper and 368 pounds of aluminum have been collected this year, and a profit of $469.98 realized. She expressed thanks to the many volunteers who have assisted, including the Methodist Youth Fellowship, Jaycees, and Scout Troops 16 and 23.

Prisoner Exchange Underway Between Israel and Egypt

By United Press International

Israel and Egypt began a dramatic exchange of prisoners today, breaking a paralyzing truce deadlock and paving the way for an historic peace conference before the end of the year.

Chartered International Red Cross planes took off early today from Tel Aviv and Cairo with the first of thousands of soldiers captured in the 17-day Middle East war.

The prisoner exchange, expected to last a week to eight days, marked the first direct flights between Israel and Egypt in civil aviation history.

The surprise agreement to release the POWs also brought Israeli pledges to simultaneously hand over checkpoints on the Cairo-Suez road to United Nations troops and permit the resupply of encircled Egyptian soldiers and civilians.

Diplomatic sources said implementation of the supply and prisoner sections of the cease-fire pact was expected to lead to a full-scale Middle East peace conference in Geneva before the end of the year.

The exchanges began with 26 wounded Israelis and 44 Egyptian POWs. Each plane carried medical supplies, doctors and nurses to aid the wounded in flight.

The prisoner exchange involved a total of 238 Israelis held by Egypt and 8,221 Egyptians captured by Israel in the latest Middle East war. Reports from Cairo said Egypt also was releasing nine Israelis captured in sporadic fighting over the last six years.

Syria, the other Arab country with major involvement in the war, did not take part in the agreement. Israel says it captured 173 Arabs on the Syrian front and estimates Syria holds about 100 Israeli POWs.

The Israeli prisoners aboard the first flight home all wore striped pajamas. Some smiled, others looked dazed and still others stared without expression.

Most of the prisoners were on stretchers covered with green and red woolen blankets. The others either walked or hobbled to the aircraft.

The breakthrough on the prisoner dispute was hammered out by Israel and Egypt in a desert negotiating session Wednesday.

Israel agreed to turn over controversial checkpoints on the Cairo-Suez road to U.N. peace-keeping troops and allow food, water and medicine shipments to the encircled Egyptian 3rd army and civilians trapped in the city of Suez.

"Now we have reason to be happy," the Israeli negotiator, Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv, told his Egyptian counterpart, Maj. Gen. Mohammed Abdel Gamassy.

Yariv and Gamassy smiled and shook hands after their climactic three-hour session in a green tent at the Kilometer 101 desert outpost. Yariv hugged his troops and then told them, "I think they (the Israeli government) will not be disappointed."

Kissinger Talks About Oil

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka told Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today that Japan faces its most critical economic situation since World War II because of the Arab oil squeeze.

Tanaka also gave Kissinger a preview of the steps the world's No. 1 importer of oil will take to cope with an estimated 20 per cent cutback in its imports of crude oil next month.

The prime minister emphasized that Japan will forge its Middle East policy independently and that any changes in it will take place without prior consultation with the United States. He made clear that he was asking for advice and information as a friend and major business partner.

The question is what the United States can do to ease Japan's burden other than to point out that Kissinger has prodded the Arabs and Israel toward negotiations that could lead to a Middle East settlement.

Some American businessmen in Japan expect Tanaka's government to switch from its neutral position toward favoring the Arabs, perhaps by breaking relations with Israel. However, the government has repeatedly said it would not take so drastic a step.

HENRY A. KISSINGER

With only a little coal and virtually no domestic oil, natural gas or uranium production, Japan depends on foreign sources for 85 per cent of its total energy supply, and more than 80 per cent of its oil has been coming from the Middle East.

The National Federation of Oil Dealers has decided to close the nation's 43,000 gas stations on Sundays and national holidays. And the stations will be open for less hours on other days.

An overture from Libya, meanwhile, has given rise to hope that it may become a new source of supply for Japan. Ambassador Hassan Bukres asked on Wednesday for Japanese technical cooperation to build steel mills, oil refineries and petrochemical plants in Libya, from whom Japan buys little oil. And Libya has nothing to offer in exchange for Japanese help except its oil.

Besides briefing the Japanese on the Middle East situation, Kissinger is giving them an account of his visit to China and his views on the U.S.-Chinese communique. He is also briefing them on the status of his proposals to rejuvenate the North Atlantic alliance and arrange a close association for Japan with it.

Kissinger goes to Seoul Friday for talks with South Korean officials, then returns to Washington.

Arabs Shot Instead of Talked, Eban Tells Conservative Jews

KIAMESHA LAKE, N. Y. (UPI) — The war in the Middle East could have been averted if the Arabs had chosen to "talk instead of shoot," Isreali Foreign Minister Abba Eban said here Wednesday night.

Eban, addressing 1,600 delegates to a convention of the United Synagogues of America, told the representatives of 1.5 million Conservative Jews that the attack on Israel came only dasy after arrangements had been made to sit at the bargaining table with the United States as mediator.

"It was said the Arabs had no alternative but to engage in violent war," the Israeli diplomat claimed, "but the Egyptians had a choice during the first few days of October. Negotiations had already been started which would have seen Egypt and Israel, at the United Nations or in Washington during November, sit down with the United States in an attempt to find a peaceful solution to the problem."

He said that some believe that the war was "only for some unidentified controversial territories, but this too is utter nonsense."

"The very massiveness of the assault bears witness to the fact that an attempt was made to bring about the determination as to whether Israel could or could not survive," Eban said.

A ring of security agents protected Eban during his appearance at the Concord Hotel in this Sullivan County resort.

More than 35 U.S. Secret Service agents, state police, local sheriff's deputies and hotel security men joined six Israeli security officers in providing protection for the foreign minister.

Newlyweds: High Seas Honeymoon

LONDON (AP) — Britain's royal newlyweds, Princess Anne and Capt. Mark Phillips, spent their wedding night at the country home of one of her cousins before flying today to Barbados for a honeymoon on the high seas.

The year's most celebrated wedding couple were booked with 18 other passengers in the first-class section of British Airways Flight 695 to the British island off the northern coast of South America. The Britannia, the luxurious royal yacht, awaited them there.

The airline said no special arrangements were made for the 23-year-old daughter of Queen Elizabeth II and her 25-year-old husband of one day — but one official did note that drinks were complimentary in first class.

Anne and Phillips were accompanied by one bodyguard, James Beaton.

The couple sail aboard the Britannia Friday from Bridgetown, the capital of Barbados, for a cruise of nearly three weeks that will take them through the Caribbean, the Panama Canal and 1,000 Pacific miles southwest to the Galapagos Islands.

The princess and Phillips will leave Galapagos by plane on Dec. 4 and make a series of visits to Ecuador, Colombia, Jamaica, Montserrat and Antigua on the way home. They return to London on Dec. 17.

After their wedding festivities in London Wednesday, Anne and her army captain slipped away to Thatched House Lodge, in the royal park at Richmond, on the southwestern outskirts of London. The secluded mansion is the home of Anne's cousin, Princess Alexandra, and her husband, Angus Ogilvy, and the Ogilvys turned it over to the Phillipses for the night.

The newlyweds made their getaway by driving to Chelsea Hospital in a horse-drawn carriage for an "official visit" and ducking out in a limousine.

Last night, detectives stood silent vigil in the shadows of the trees around the white mansion. The Daily Mail reported that the first thing the couple did was switch on the television set to watch reruns of their wedding ceremony.

Restaurants In Paris Shut By Food Strike

PARIS (UPI) — Shopkeepers angered by government attempts to curb profits shuttered food stores across France today in a 24-hour strike that forced restaurants to close in the gastronomic capital of the world.

A few of Paris' prestigious three-star restaurants, such as the Tour d'Argent and Lasserre, said they would try to keep open to honor prior reservations. But most restaurants as well as the city's sidewalk cafes planned to stay closed.

Grocery, fruit, vegetable and meat shops honored the one-day shutdown to protest new government taxes on beef, fruit, vegetables, bread and cheese aimed at forcing retailers to hold down prices.

More Indictments From Attica Jury

WARSAW, N.Y. (UPI) — A special Wyoming County grand jury Wednesday handed up more indictments against former Attica Correctional Facility inmates charged with the 1971 prison riot and the legal co-ordinator of the defense for several of the men charged wants the panel's term ended.

Attorney Donald Jelinek said he was "repulsed at the prosecution's attempts to convince the public that this is a continuing series of crimes."

Jelinek, who has a motion on file to enjoin the panel from sitting, asked the court, "will this go on forever? Will there be an indictment number 43 or 46 or 98 or 112?"

Jelinek's remarks came after two sealed indictments were opened at the Wyoming County Courthouse. They placed additional charges of kidnaping and murder against five men already charged in connection with the riot.

Four of the defendants, acting as their own legal counsel, declined to enter a plea to charges of three counts of kidnaping and one count of murder each.

The men were Roger Champen, Frank Smith, Herbert Blyden, Bernard Stroble and Eric Thompson. All but Thompson were present.

The five are charged in one indictment with kidnaping fellow inmate Barry Schwartz "on, between or about" Sept. 10 and 11, 1971, and causing his death. Schwartz was found stabbed to death after the prison was retaken.

Champen and Smith were released on their own recognizance. Stroble and Blyden were scheduled to be taken to the Erie County holding center.

Thompson was tentatively scheduled to appear next week.

Stroble was also named in the second indictment, specifically charging him with the murder of Schwartz.

Stroble appeared surprised by the second indictment and told the court:

"The state has taken two years to manufacture this charge through ruthless investigations. Never has the law been so prostituted as the prosecution of the Attica brothers."

He described the prosecution as a "foul obscene exhibition of state power."

Justice Carman F. Ball said the statement would be included in the record.

Jelinek made motions requesting that the grand jury reveal if any additional indictments will be handed up, or if the special grand jury's term has been concluded.

Ball denied both motions.

Jelinek, "speaking strictly as a lawyer," called the grand jury "the most corrupt in the history of the nation."

All five men were previously charged with kidnaping and murder in connection with the death of another inmate, Barry Hess, who was also killed during the four-day riot.

They were named in an indictment handed up in August.

All but Blyden were charged with kidnaping in indictments handed up last December.

Paltz Board Adopts Budget

NEW PALTZ — The New Paltz Town Board adopted a budget for 1974 at its meeting Wednesday night, with few changes from the preliminary budget given a public hearing last week.

The total appropriations for 1974 stand at $704,276, with the amount to be raised by taxes at $494,370.98. The changes made in the preliminary figures, according to Supervisor Theodore Lasher, were the reducing of the salaries of all elcted officials back to last year's rate, the addition of $1,000 to the anticipated fuel bill, and the moving of the youth program to the part-town section of the budget.

To meet the energy crisis, the thermostats in the town hall are to be set a 68 degrees, with lights dimmed — as they were for the Wednesday meeting — and storm windows to be placed on the building.

The board received requests for sewer districts from Jack Erman and from the Fulton Town House development. These were referred to the town engineers.

A public hearing was set for Dec. 10 at 8 p.m. on the new regulations on subdivision density recommended by the planning board. That same night at 9:30 a public hearing will be held on the zoning fee schedule and other language in the ordinance.

Lasher announced that glass recycling was being held every Saturday at the town landfill area.

A bid of $5,485.79 for a new truck with snow plow was awarded to Young's 9W Plymouth as the lowest bidder meeting specifications.

The board conditionally accepted bid of $154,490 for the Fulton Street extension by Rabena Const. Co. Lasher said the possibility of the county furnishing some funds for the road was being investigated. He also said the final paving of the road would be done in cooperation with the county, using the county's machine, at a considerable savings to the town.

Lasher appointed a committee of himself, Councilman Dominick Sfregola, Ralph Kulseng, and New Paltz Cablevision owner Russell Bogie to meet with a delegation from the village and the college to try to find a new home for Channel 12, the town's local cablevision station.

John Logan called for the town to set the rates for cable television, require studio space be provided by local franchisers for local public access TV, and specify that all sections of the town be serviced by franchisers. Lasher said that requiring all parts of the town to be serviced would be a money-losing proposition for the franchiser. Sfregola said it could raise the rates for those who already had the service, and Borgie said state law covered changes in rates and that he had cooperated with local public access TV even though he did not have to and had spent his own money on it.

BLA Leader Is Killed

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Black Liberation Army leader wanted in connection with the shootings of at least eight policemen was killed in a shootout Wednesday night, "breaking the back" of the BLA leadership.

Two detectives, an FBI agent and a passerby were wounded in the gunbattle with Twymon Myers, one of the FBI's most wanted fugitives, outside a South Bronx grocery, none seriously.

Police learned that Myers was holed up in a third-floor walkup apartment where he had moved about two weeks ago after eluding a police raid, a spokesman said.

About one dozen detectives and FBI agents watched as Myers came out of the building and strolled to a corner grocery store.

As the 23-year-old fugitive strolled out of the store, the stakeout team shouted: "Stand fast! Police officers." Myers drew a pistol, whirled, and fired nine shots before being hit by police and FBI gunfire and collapsing to the sidewalk. He died on the way to a hospital.

Those injured in the gunbattle all suffered leg wounds. They were Detective John Clark, Detective Colonel Holland, FBI Special Agent Donald West, and the passerby, Jose Cotto.

Police Commissioner Donald F. Cawley said that with Myers' death, authorities have now "broken the back of the leadership of the Black Liberation Army that we knew."

All other known leaders of the BLA have been captured or killed in police shootouts, most of them in the last several months. Six reputed BLA members have been killed in shootouts with police.

Myers was wanted for questioning or as a suspect in a number of attacks on police and several robberies over the past few years. Authorities said these included the slayings of two patrolmen in Greenwich Village in January, 1972; the wounding of two patrolmen in an ambush in Brooklyn in January, 1973; the wounding of two patrolmen in Queens two days later; the wounding of two detectives in a shootout in the Bronx in March.

He also was wanted in connection with the holdup of a New York social club in August, 1971, which was followed by a gunbattle in which a cab driver died; and a March, 1972, holdup of a Bronx bank.

Board of Education Approves Energy Moves

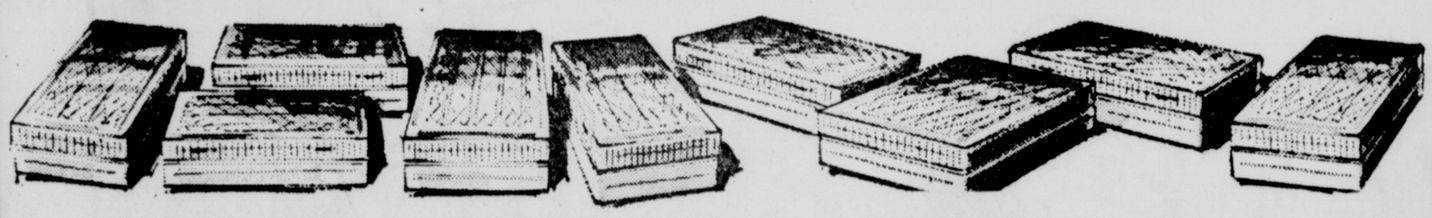

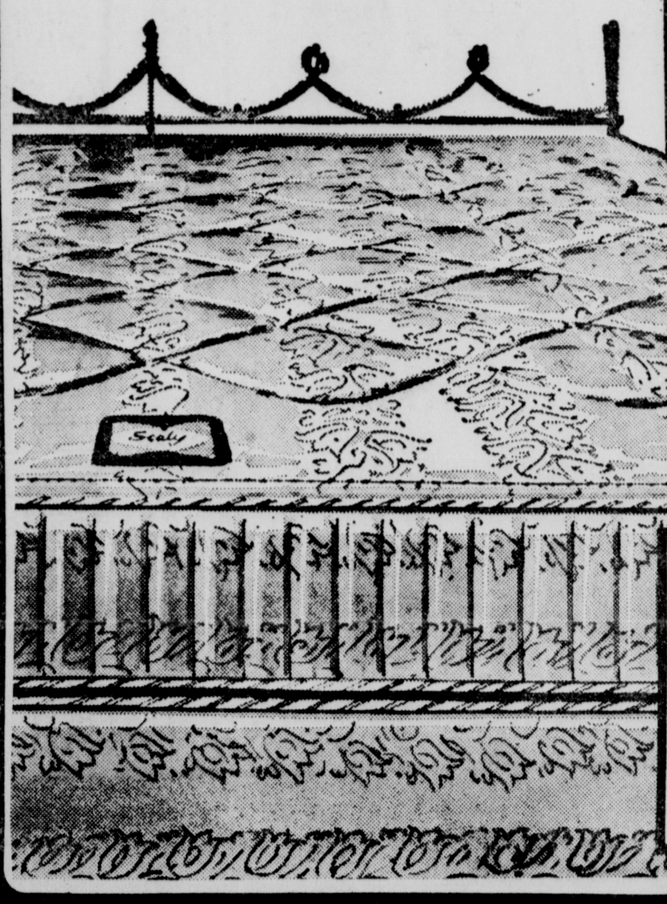

RHINEBECK — The Rhinebeck Board of Education adopted several measures at its meeting this week designed to conserve fuel and electricity.

It was decided to reduce room temperatures in all buildings to 68 degrees; to close the Liv-Kingston and Buckley schools at 5 p.m. on weekdays and to close off parts of the high school not used during evening hours.

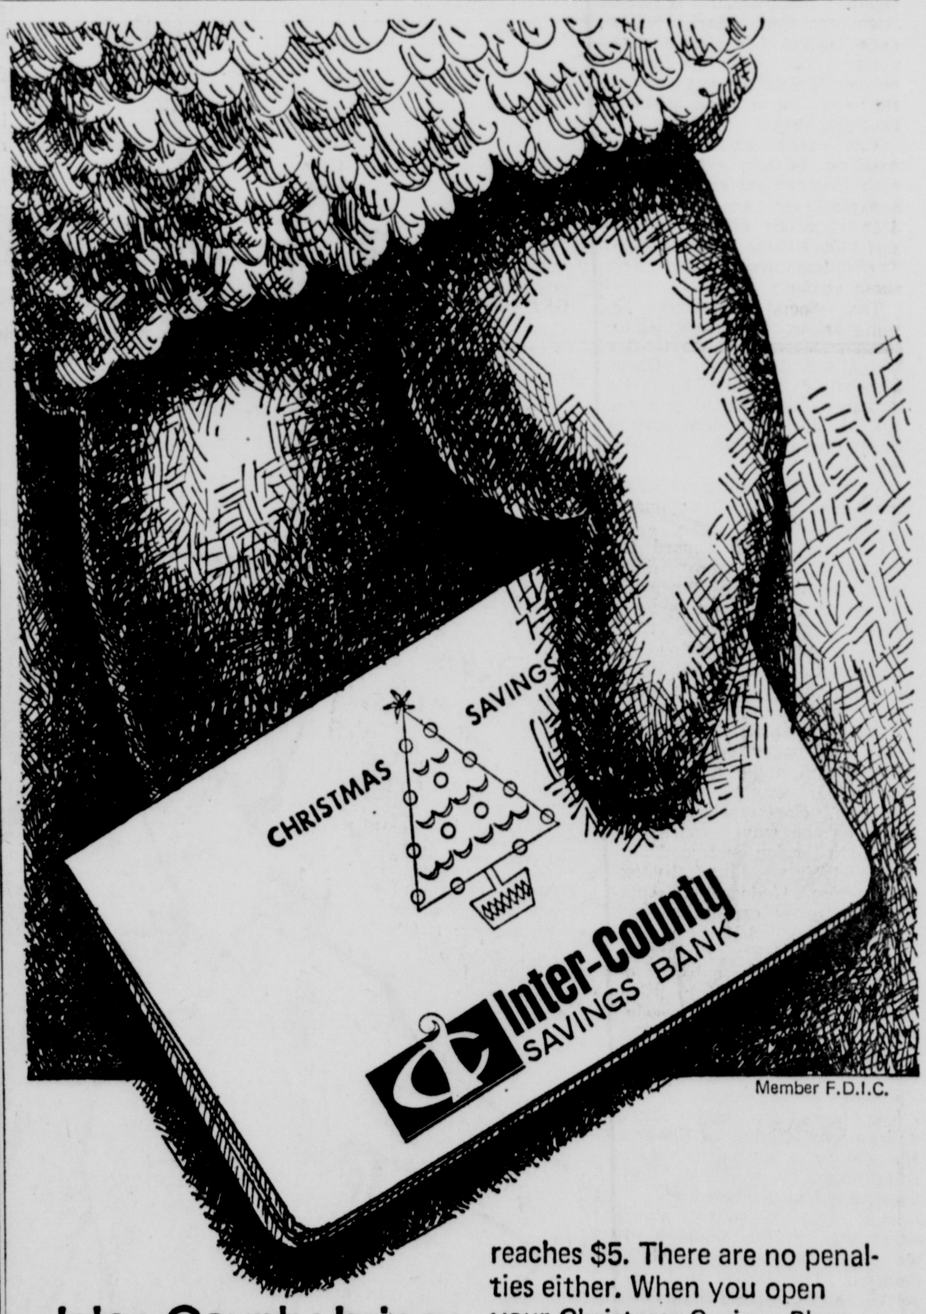

The school board also approved a resolution lending its support to enabling legislation on the extended school year proposal before the New York State Legislature. Copies of the resolution will be mailed to Assemblyman Emeel Betros and State Senator Jay P. Rolison.

Freeman Readers Write the Editor

N-Moratorium

Editor, the Freeman:

The members of the Nuclear Committee of the Environmental Task Force of Ulster County would like to sound a loud second to the plea by the Hudson Valley Citizens Watch on Nuclear Safety that your readers write to their Senators and Congressmen in regard to their opposition to the building of a nuclear power plant in Town of Lloyd, on a local level, as well as to argue support for a national moratorium on nuclear power.

We cannot emphasize enough the urgent need to let your representatives in Washington know how you feel. To quote from a letter we recently received from the Task Force Against Nuclear Pollution, anti-nuclear power citizens are "visiting members of Congress now in an effort to persuade them to co-sponsor a Nuclear Power Moratorium bill in the House of Representatives. They will listen to them only if the petition-drive in their districts is growing and if they are receiving moratorium mail from their constituents."

As of Oct. 20, 1973, the Task Force Against Nuclear Pollution reports that the Moratorium Petition Signatures from New York State total 2,273 with a total of approximately 22,000 signatures across the United States. This is a good beginning, but we still have a long way to go. A further breakdown shows that Congressman Fish (25th District) has received 149 signatures, Gilman (26th Dist.) has received 124 signatures, and Robison (27th Dist.) 178 signatures. This is a rather poor showing when over half a million people live in Mr. Fish's district alone. We must do better!

If anyone has not yet signed a nuclear moratorium petition to "urge Congress to enact a moratorium on the licensing and operation of civilian nuclear power plants, and to accelerate development of fission free energy technologies", you can write to the Environmental Task Force, UPO Box 537, Kingston, N.Y. 12401, and we will be glad to send you one or as many as you can distribute to friends.

The adresses of your representatives are as follows: for U.S. Senator James L. Buckley and U.S. Senator Jacob K. Javits; Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, and for Representatives Hamilton Fish, Jr., Benjamin A. Gilman, and Howard Robison; House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20510. Let them know that they would have your support if they take an anti-nuclear stand. They are waiting to hear from you.

We urge each and everyone of you to join in this most important letter and petition campaign. ". . . this rush to blanket the northeast with nuclear power plants is one of the most dangerous and misguided steps ever taken by man." (Dr. Lamont Cole, Cornell Univ.)

The Nuclear Power Committee of the Environmental Task Force.

Social Security

Editor, The Freeman:

In your editorial which appeared in the November 12 edition titled "New SSI Payments" you incorrectly indicated that social security funds are to be used to supply this supplemental security income.

Although the Congress chose the Social Security Administration to operate the new program the program will be financed entirely, including the administrative costs, from general revenues and not from social security trust funds. It is not the same as social security. The aim of the new program is to provide supplemental payments in cases of need so that people 65 or over, or blind or disabled, will have a basic cash income of at least $130 a month for one person and $195 a month for a couple. The State may supplement these amounts.

The Social Security Administration was selected to operate the new program for a number of reasons, some of which are: The Social Scurity Administration is already in touch with nearly 70 per cent of the people who may be eligible through its ongoing cash benefit program nd nearly 100 per cent of the aged through Medicare eligibility. In addition, the organizational structure, its national telecommunications and computer systems, its network of district and branch offices and its master file of social security account numbers seemed ideally suited to meeting the administrative needs of the new program.

I thank you and your staff for your help and cooperation in providing the generous amount of space to social security which helps us to reach the retired, disabled and survivors with important information they need to know.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE J. HABERNIG JR.
District Manager

Political Upgrading

Editor, The Freeman:

All of us in the Hudson Valley should take comfort from the election returns. The voters in New Jersey and across the state of New York have demonstrated their anger at the constitutional abuses and violations of law that have dominated our national affairs for the last six months. There is no question that the election of Democrats in suburban and rural areas, in many places unprecedented, indicates that the people of our nation will not be satisfied until this whole Watergate situation is completely investigated and all wrongdoers are brought to justice. It also clearly demonstrates that no Republican incumbent can rest on his laurels or is invulnerable. It is important for all of us of all parties to work for men and women of integrity and good will in the electons that will come in 1974.

Cordially,
JOHN S. DYSON
Millbrook

New Energy

Editor, The Freeman:

I've just listened to Senator Jackson on TV. I was struck with the simple logic of one of his remarks.

He said that the Arab oil embargo may be a blessing in disguise. I think so too. With all the ideas coming thru on ways to conserve oil on roadways, in factories and homes, I am surprised that no one thought of this before. After all, oil is not a limitless resource. If it lasts through several generations our great grandchildren may be faced with dry oil wells and no source of energy left to run their technological civilization. Now is the time to start real efforts to come up with new ways and to provide security for our country for all time.

In America, we pride ourselves with our Yankee ingenuity. Let's show the world that we can do it.

Sincerely,
IDA WEINSTEIN

Picture Magic

Editor, The Freeman:

At this season when we find ourselves taking stock of all the things we have for which to be thankful, the members of the Board of Directors of the Ulster County SPCA wish to express their deep appreciation and gratitude to the Kingston Freeman for the wonderful cooperation shown in photographing some of the Shelter animals and publishing the pictures.

We could use paragraphs to describe these animals in great detail, but these pictures are indeed "worth a thousand words." So often they mean the difference between an animal's chance of finding a good home and being put to sleep.

Again, we thank you for your wonderful help in assisting us in placing these animals.

Sincerely,
DOROTHY C. WILSON

Two-Party County

Editor, The Freeman:

I would like to take this opportunity — somewhat belatedly — to express my deep felt thanks to all those who provided such needed support and help in the Ulster County legislative contest in the Eighth District. We didn't win, but I believe we ran a very good race in a massive district — a district created by the legislative majority in such way that the odds against any Democrat winning were almost unbeatable.

My particular thanks to those people in New Paltz who gave so much of their time and effort and who helped me carry that town over a number of the Republican candidates. Also, my congratulations to the Democratic Party in Lloyd for their great victory and for showing us that there is at least one town in the southern part of Ulster County where the two-party system is truly functioning.

I would also like to thank those people in Marlboro and Plattekill who supported me. Even though I ran weakest in those two towns — not unexpected for a Democratic newcomer in a highly Republican area — I feel a particular warmth for the hospitality and friendship that was shown me by the many people at gatherings which I attended.

Lastly, I want to express my appreciation for the support given me in Gardiner. I had little chance to meet with people there — time was just too short — but I was struck by the sense of community that Gardiner has.

It is always a bitter experience to lose when you've worked hard, particularly where blatant political gerrymandering has stacked the deck, but I'm not sorry that I was given the opportunity to be a candidate. I have met many very nice people and have gained a better understanding of their problems and concerns.

Whether I run again or not, I am convinced that together we'll make this a two-party county yet.

Sanger Stamp

Editor, The Freeman:

Margaret Sanger died in 1966, but no postage stamp has yet been issued in her honor. The Office of Philatelic Affairs in Washington, D.C., informed me that a Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee makes recommendations as to the persons to be honored on postage stamps. One of the points they take into consideration is historic perspective.

If ever a persons meets the criterion of historic perspective, it is Margaret Sanger. This lady, almost single handed, pioneered the birth control movement in the United States.

Our nation — and indeed the entire world — is already suffering from the problems of overpopulation. Witness our fuel shortage, our food crisis and impending water shortage; not to mention our crime problem, which is caused by children brought up in unstable homes — homes that should have practiced birth control.

The Postal Service has already paid homage (and rightfully so) to birth control by issuing the Family Planning Stamp last year. It seems inconceivable to me that it can pay homage to an idea, while totally ignoring its founder.

Veto Overridden

The Congress of the United States finally has voted to override a presidential veto and the significance of that move cannot be overemphasized.

The House by a narrow margin and the Senate by an overwhelming margin refused to accept President Nixon's rejection of the war powers bill which, as the name of the measure implies, redefines the lines of authority and the limitations on commitment of American troops to battle action abroad.

This was the first time in nine attempts this year that both branches had voted to override a presidential veto. That means that Republicans in droves are backing off from the President because the Democrats alone did not have the strength.

Was it the contents of the bill that dictated the change of heart by so many members of the GOP or was it the fact that they have become disenchanted with Mr. Nixon? The best answer at the moment is that it was a mixture of both.

Members of the House who will be seeking reelection next year could already be planning their political strategy and that would be to place a safe distance between them and the White House, at least until the Watergate cloud disappears. There's no guarantee that the latter action will happen in the foreseeable future.

But, pragmatism and cynicism aside, the bill itself was a good one and merited the support that ultimately translated it into law. Its supporters have been battling for passage for three years and it marks the first time that Congress has clearly spelled out the war-making powers of the legislative and executive branches of government.

The President had contended the measure was unconstitutional and Vice-President-designate Ford opposed it on other grounds, claiming it took away the chief executive's flexibility to deal with a foreign crisis.

But at least two-thirds of the senators and representatives just were not buying those arguments. So what it means is that the President will have to report to Congress in writing within 48 hours after committing troops to combat action overseas.

Within 60 days Congress would have to authorize the commitment although the deadline could be extended 30 more days to permit safe withdrawal of the American fighting men.

Thus President Nixon has been handed a severe rebuke in an area where challenges to his powers appear to be growing. It was on constitutional grounds that he opposed the war powers bill and it is on constitutional grounds that he is justifying many of his actions in the Watergate affair. It appears now that the cloak of immunity is slipping.

So a turning point seems to have been reached in the effort to restore our traditional system of checks and balances. Congress at long last has reasserted its authority and from hereon in will have to be consulted in the event of prolonged commitment of American forces on foreign soil. That's the way our Founding Fathers wanted it and that's the way it should be.

Security for Kissinger

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is already across Asia, far from "the Mideast Cyclone" he stirred among the Arabs. Reports are now filtering through that his Arab hosts went all out to welcome him but fears for him were so great that the security around him was the tightest.

The question of his ethnic background was never raised, but it was on everyone's mind, including Kissinger's. For he was the first high ranking Jew even admitted to Saudi Arabia, for one. It was feared that the Black September, the Palestinian extremist group, might try to assassinate him and thus deal a double blow against the United States and against Jews.

Editorial writers in Egypt and Morocco told the Secretary he had a special obligation to reconcile Arabs and Israelis—a view that he shares—not necessarily because he is a Jew but because this is United States policy which he helped shape and was there to see adopted, to bring peace to the area.

It was Premier Chou En-lai of China who, two days and thousands of miles from the scene, called Kissinger "the Mideast Cyclone." Chou, 75, has had some cyclonic moments himself in his travels across Asia and in Africa. The two were well met for their talks on the state of Sino-American diplomacy.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Danger in Those Contingency Plans

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — One of President Nixon's earliest acts after he moved into the White House was to draw up contingency plans for the call-up of federal troops in case of a domestic crisis.

The planning was intended to cope with the widespread riots and demonstrations that rocked the nation in the late 1960s. The President has the power to implement the plans, however, any time he feels conditions "make it impracticable to enforce the laws."

Some high officials, aware of Nixon's belligerent attitude toward his Watergate critics, wonder whether he would use his emergency powers to hang on to the presidency if he should be faced with impeachment.

Sources close to the President insist he loves the United States too much to tamper with its democratic institutions. He is also showing a new willingness to consult congressional leaders. But this hasn't entirely stopped the worried whispers, which we have heard at the highest levels of government.

PATRIOTIC DUTY

Within the White House, he has spoken of the danger of turning our delicate foreign affairs over to an inexperienced President. Our sources say he sounded as if he is determined to carry on as a patriotic duty.

The plans are ready for him to declare a state of emergency, meanwhile, if he should choose. One classified document, known as the "Interdepartmental Action Plan for Civil Disturbances," outlines the responsibilities of the Defense and Justice departments in the event the armed services are mobilized.

The detailed plan, which includes sample proclamations and executive orders for the President to sign, was delivered to Nixon on May 19, 1969. He initialed the "approve" line and then scribbled "Good Planning" in the bottom margin.

Although the emergency plans are over four years old, they have been updated and reflect present policy.

CIVIL COORDINATOR

"The Attorney General is designated chief civilian officer for coordination of all federal government activities relating to civil disturbances," wrote aide John Ehrlichman in his cover memo. "The Secretary of Defense, through the Department of the Army, will be primarily responsible for employment of the military at a disturbance site. . . ."

One of the proposed proclamations deals with "Law and Order in the Washington Metropolitan Area." First, Nixon could "command all persons engaged in. . . acts of violence to cease and desist therefrom and to disperse and retire peaceably forthwith.'

If demonstrators failed to disperse, Nixon could then issue an executive order calling upon "units and members of the armed forces (to) suppress the violence. . . and to restore law and order in and about the Washington metropolitan area."

The Justice Department then would activate its confidential "Civil Disturbance Plan" and the Army would order "prepositioned" federal troops to "restore law and order." The details of the military takeover are laid out in classified contingency plans known collectively as "Garden Plot."

MEN AROUND HIM

Our White House sources emphasize that the President hasn't even hinted he might declare an emergency and put Washington under martial law. But they admit he has surrounded himself with men who would probably carry out his orders.

His closest associate now is Alexander Haig, a former Army general. The lawyer who has Nixon's ear, former Pentagon counsel J. Fred Buzhardt, is a West Point graduate. John Bennett, another aide in the President's immediate circle, is a retired two-star general.

Throughout the crisis surrounding the ouster of Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox, according to our sources, Haig followed the President's orders without questioning them. His loyalty was to his commander-in-chief, not to the higher principles at issue.

Haig, for example, personally ordered the FBI to seal off Cox's office. He also transmitted the order to former Deputy Attorney General William Ruckelshaus to fire Cox. When Ruckelshaus refused to do so, Haig was abashed. The erstwhile general told Ruckelshaus in a crisp military voice: "Your commander-in-chief has given you an order."

JCS' LOYALTY

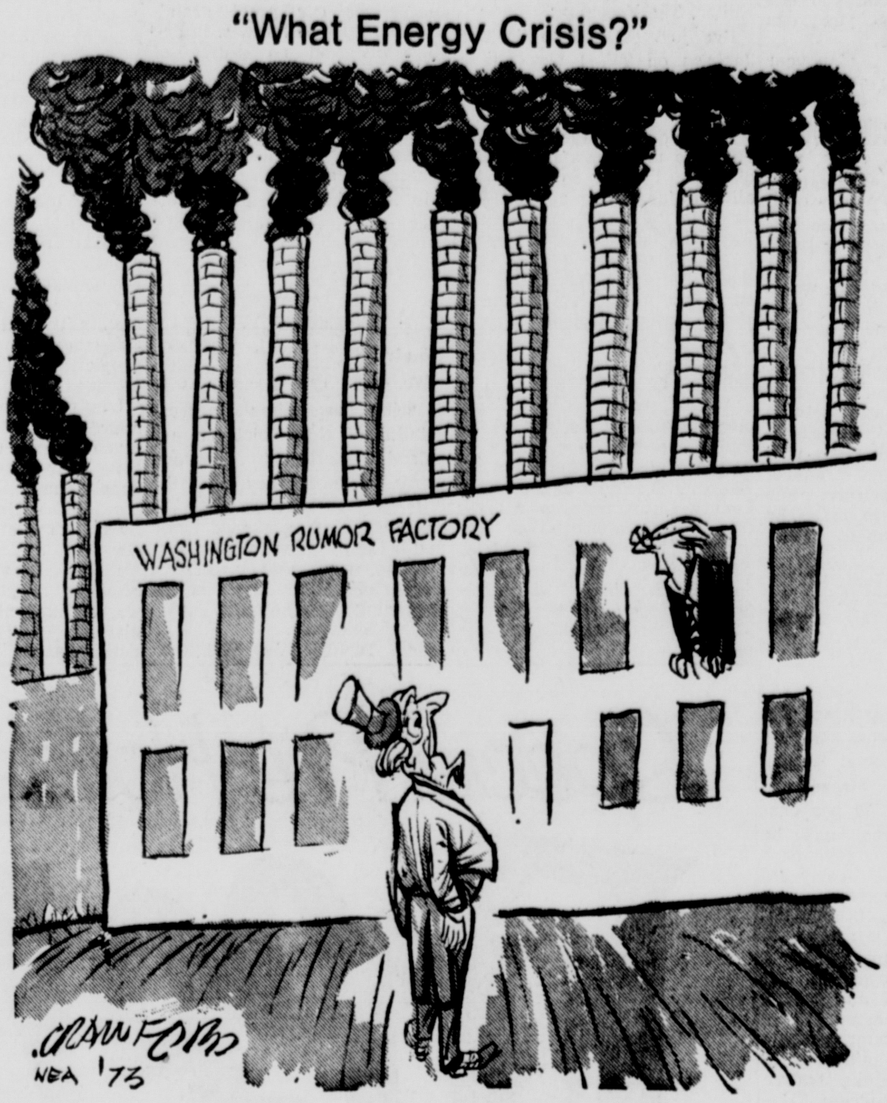

Nor have the Pentagon's top brass shown any inclination to defy a presidential command. The Joint Chief's chairman, Admiral Thomas Moorer, was asked at a Senate hearing last August if he could conceive of a situation wherein he would disobey an order.

"As a military man. . .," Moorer replied, "I have never been one who thought that I should obey the orders I like and disobey the orders I don't like. Therefore, when I get an order, I obey it."

There are nearly 500 separate federal laws delegating extraordinary authority to the President in time of national emergency. He could declare any part of the United States a "military area," for example, and could severely punish anyone who acted "contrary to the restrictions applicable thereto."

Under the laws now on the books, according to Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, "the President may seize properties, mobilize production, seize commodities, institute martial law, seize control of all transportation and communications, regulate private capital, restrict travel, and — in a host of particular and peculiar ways — control the activities of all American citizens."

Floating Gasoline Prices

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

It is both sad and amusing to read the public speculation over just how we are to save fuel. The challenge is a delight to bureaucratic ingenuity: there is a breed of men which is never so happy as when sitting down to regulate the habits of other men. A schoolmate of mine knew the breed by instinct. He called them — fleeted phrase! — "shower adjusters." I.E., people who can't bear to let you set the temperature even of your own shower, wanting to reach in and turn the knob just a little this way, or that.

Rationing! With thousands of boards, before which each one of us would appear, importunate, pleading our special little exigencies. The kind of thing that used to delight the New Deal bureaucrats, who at the height of their enthusiasm for that kind of thing wanted to regulate wages, profits, and prices, and never quite forgave the Supreme Court for saying it was unconstitutional. The Nixon Administration has in it enough sensible people to resist — or so we hear — the lobby that turns instinctively to rationing as the way to handle the problem.

There is talk instead of a huge tax. But as often is the case, one form of government interference introduces the need for a derivative interference. It is fared that a tax a) large enough substantially to reduce the use of gasoline, would b) substantially reduce consumer spending power thus c) causing deflation: so that d) it is proposed that the tax having been taken from the motorist it be returned; posing the problem e) when? If the following year, the temporary decrease in purchasing power might trigger the recession. If right away, then the taking away of the money and the returning of it blur in the consumer's mind, and the effect on the consumption of gasoline would be nugatory.

A few observations:

1) You are much better off reducing the amount of gas spent by raising the price of gasoline, than by setting up a gigantic bureaucracy charged with the impossible job of adjudicating everyone's claim to gasoline. Whereas it is obvious that the doctor or the plumber needs gas in order to do his business, it is not obvious that the old retired couple do not need gas — when in fact their principal pleasure may be their afternoon drive together.

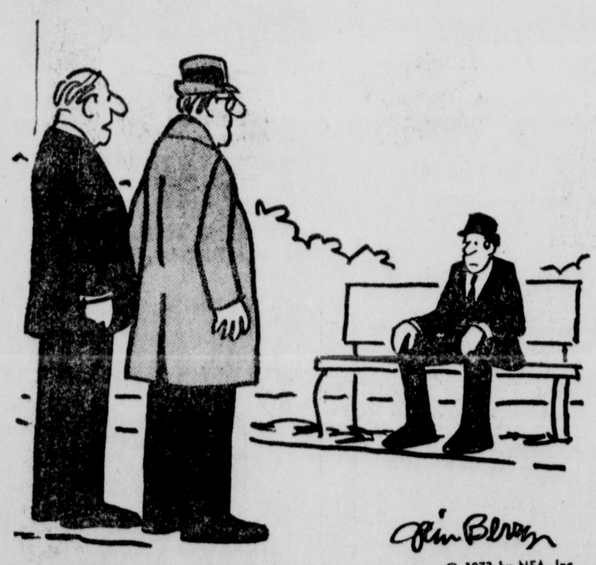

2) When there is true scarcity, basic needs must be protected. It is not yet known whether the scarcity that looms is on that order. It is conceivable, however, that it might be. In that event, the government would be entitled to protect the basic needs of individual drivers by — let us say — stipulating that every Monday, drivers can fill up their tanks with government-priced gasoline.

But then on the following six days, gasoline venders should quite simply peg their prices according to supply. As gasoline becomes scarcer, the price of it should rise. As it becomes less scarce, competition would drive down the price. If it is not too complicated for the gasoline station to adjust its prices — perhaps even, like the pound's, every day, depending on demand and supply.

Individual stations would accordingly decide how many hours to stay open. Seizing the opportunity, an individual station operator might, let us say, open only between midnight and six in the morning, charging a premium for his gasoline. If that operation became extremely profitable, a competitor would imitate, it, and the price of the gas would come down.

What I am stressing, 3) is that there is no need to do away with the market mechanism merely because of scarcity. On the contrary, that is when the market mechanism particularly pays off. And the notion that the government needs to intervene with a tax is utterly fanciful. If it were the objective to cut down on driving in order to control pollution, then the uniform tax would make sense: but not when it is the objective merely to cut down on the use of a scarce commodity. Mr. Nixon has a fine chance here to adopt conservative principles to a social emergency. Let us hope he will not muff it.

Washington Calling

Everyone's in the Nuclear Act

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — One of the casualties of the tragic Middle East war was the rift in the North Atlantic alliance growing out of the denial of the use of American bases on European soil for the Israeli airlift. This was, in fact, little more than an advertisement of the disarray so long evident in NATO.

Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger has just been in Europe seeking to patch up or at least smooth over the outbreak over bases that the United States paid for, maintains and staffs. But an optimistic statement about this latest blowup cannot conceal the deep-rooted friction between Big Brother, with his all-powerful nuclear umbrella, and the European, in their effort to achieve economic prosperity and independence.

Testimony before the Joint Atomic Energy Commission last April — the transcript just released in a highly censored version—shows two things: first, how little concern is paid to European sensitivities in stacking up U.S. nuclear weapons on European soil and, second, the way in which outworn assumptions about the use of tactical nuclear weapons in a prolonged war with the Soviet Union still prevail.

The witness was Air Force Maj. Gen. Edward B. Giller, assistant general manager for national security of the Atomic Energy Commission. He was being questioned about the use of nuclear shells replacing shells with conventional explosives deployed in Germany. Several thousand such shells are already stored and ready for use against advancing East European troops.

An interesting bit of arithmetic is involved. An eight-inch conventional shell costs about $45 for use in a field artillery piece. A nuclear shell costs $400,000. For a 155-millimeter weapon the conventional shell costs slightly more, about $55, while the nuclear shell adds up to $450,000. The field pieces have a range of about 10 miles.

A committee member asked where these shells would be fired. The answer was in Germany, of course. Have the Germans agreed? Well, they haven't disagreed. This seemed to imply that they had not been asked.

This is only one instance, and probably a minor one, of the way European sensitivities have been ignored or ridden over roughshod in building up the mountain of nuclear explosives in Western Europe. Nuclear weapons can be fired under American law only when authorized by the President.

While the exact volume stored in Europe is classified it constitutes the third great cache of the stuff of annihilation. A second, and perhaps the largest, is based in the United States to fuel the intercontinental ballistic missiles. The third serves the Poseidon and Polaris submarines, with a small portion at sea in aircraft based on carriers.

How this stuff proliferates week in and week out, year after year, reaching a total that is today mind-boggling is almost lost sight of. In World War II 2.5 million tons of explosives were dropped on every front. That explosive force that worked so much destruction is 1/25th of one per cent of the explosive force stored in American arsenals around the world today.

This was to have been the Year of Europe. To have been really meaningful, the program should have surveyed with our European partners not only trade and economic relations but the military complex allowed to grow like a rank weed on European soil. It should mean, if it ever comes off, drastic revision of military planning for a long land war that would employ tactical nuclear weapons.

General Giller suggested in the course of his testimony that the artillery pieces were dear to the Army. They wanted to get into the nuclear act. Everyone wanting to get into the act helps to explain the fantastic growth of the nuclear stockpile.

As the nuclear morass expands, the task of SALT II — intended to put a brake on offensive weapons analogous to the curb on defensive nuclear missiles, the ABMs, achieved under SALT I — becomes more difficult, if not impossible. The weapons screamers, one of the powerful lobbies in the capital, will do their best to block it. With the specialists who helped to put through the SALT I agreement all but wiped out, the line has hardened and the road ahead looks long and bleak.

Fund Drive Slated Sunday For Vietnam 'House of Hope'

SAUGERTIES — The Operation Children planning committee of Friends of Children of Vietnam has announced that all the proceeds raised during the upcoming fund drive will be used to help in the rapid construction of Hy Vong — The House of Hope — in Saigon.

Rosemary Taylor, who operates the Saigon nurseries, has given the medical facility, which will provide intensive care for the premature, newborn and critically ill infants of South Vietnam, the highest priority.

Miss Taylor has reported from South Vietnam that a building has been located for immediate occupancy by the most critically ill infants. Expanded use of the facility, however, is dependent on the availability of additional funds.

For this reason, the Mid-Hudson chapter of Friends of Children of Vietnam has set $10,000 as its fund raising goal, will all proceeds being used specifically for the House of Hope. "By directing our efforts to specifically Hy Vong," said an FCVN member, "the People of Ulster and Surrounding counties will have a project to which they can readily identify and take pride in their accomplishment."

Miss Taylor has been working actively for the orphaned children of Vietnam for the past seven years. In that time, she has established three nurseries, with a population of 250 children, and has assisted in the adoption proceedings for numerous other youngsters.

The highlight of the fund drive conducted by Friends of Children of Vietnam will be a radiothon over WGHQ on Sunday, November 18. Radiothon headquarters will be at the Holiday Inn, Washington Avenue Extension, Kingston.

Area residents may pledge their contributions by phoning the Holiday Inn on Sunday at 338-0404 through 338-0407, or may appear in person with their contributions. Other local headquarters will be at the Reformed Church on Main Street in Saugerties, and at Ellenville, Cairo, Albany and Poughkeepsie.

Designation by Savago...
$10,000 Goal Is Cited

KINGSTON — In order to urge every encouragement to those persons who are attempting to make a better life for the unfortunate children of Vietnam, Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) has designated Sunday, Nov. 18 as Operation Children's Day in Ulster County.

Savago said that "It is generally recognized that the universal application of the act of compassion can lead to friendship between all nations.

"It is further recognized that in the children of the world rests the hope of the future.

"When we speak of the children of the world, we must single out the children of Vietnam, who have long suffered physical deprivation. Some are suffering from illness, injury and starvation. Many of them are homeless orphans seeking love and understanding and a permanent place to start a new life.

"At this place in time it is appropriate to recognize and offer support of an organization which has done much in providing for the physical well-being of the orphaned and abandoned children of Vietnam.

"This organization is known as the Friends of Children of Vietnam.

"They have a goal of $10,000 in the current fund-raising campaign to provide an intensive care nursery in Saigon, South Vietnam. In conjunction with the drive, the organization is conducting a radiothon on radio station WGHQ, Sunday November 18 from Kingston's Holiday Inn.

"This action of recognition and support is taken to demonstrate our commitment to the principle of human compassion. Where else but in the United States of America would such a commitment have more meaning.

"We commend the Friends of Children of Vietnam for their fine work and dedication."

British Mount Top Security Operations

WINCHESTER, England (AP) — British police mounted a massive security operation today after reports that the Irish Republican Army planned to seize hostages and demand the release of seven IRA men and two women convicted of bombings in London last March.

There were also reports that the IRA might retaliate with more bombing in British cities.

One man was killed and 216 were wounded in the London bombing March 8. Ten IRA members were arrested that day and another escaped. One of the captives pleaded guilty, and eight of the others were convicted Wednesday after a 44-day trial in the Great Hall of Winchester Castle.

They were to be sentenced today. A tenth suspect was acquitted.

As the verdicts were announced, the convicted defendants began the "Death March." It was a warning to the girl who was acquitted, 18-year-old Roisin McNearny.

A onetime Belfast folk singer, she broke the IRA's pledge of silence and gave a full confession to security men after she and her associates were arrested at Heathrow Airport waiting for a flight back to Ireland.

Two of the defendants, Hugh Feeney and Martin Brady, tried to grab the girl in the dock, and one of the men threw a coin at her and yelled, "Take your blood money with you."

Miss McNearny ran weeping into her father's arms. Armed detectives escorted them from the court and drove them to a hideout.

Conspiracy Charges Are Dismissed

KINGSTON — Charges of second degree conspiracy against Burt R. Quick, 33, of 118 Harwich Street, were dismissed in City Court today on the recommendation of the District Attorney's office.

Quick was arrested and charged with three counts of conspiracy Aug. 30 in connection with three incendiary fires at the new Salvation Army headquarters on Cedar Street.

Police have alleged that Quick either engaged or forced two others to set the three fires.

Canadian Energy Board Releases Industrial Oil

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Canadian Energy Board has released 400,000 barrels of industrial heating oil across the Canadian border to Detroit and western New York.

In a decision Wednesday, the board approved national license applications for the release of the oil, which had already been contracted for by U.S. customers but blocked from shipment by a Canadian embargo.

U.S. Rep. Jack Kemp of New York said it was "a step in the right direction."

He said that while the move would take care of heating needs in his district for the rest of November, "the effort now has to be made to make sure there is an adequate supply for December and January."

Prior to the action, several congressmen had warned that the Canadian embargo could possibly have meant the shutting down of schools and industries.

Rep. James F. Hastings said that "every little bit helps—this announcement is obviously good news."

But one congressman said his district still had a problem. Rep. Robert C. McEwen said his area needs the release by the Canadiens of No. 2 heating oil and kerosene.

Escapee Is Returned to County Jail

KINGSTON — Following an intensive investigation by Ulster County Sheriff William B. Martin, Victor (Loco) Martinez, who escaped from a Shawangunk farm Oct. 21 while working on the county's work release program, was returned to Ulster County Jail Wednesday night.

Sheriff's deputies said that as the result of information received by Sheriff Martin it was believed that Martinez had fled to Jefferson County, Ohio. Authorities there were contacted, and Martinez was found and placed under arrest.

Martinez waived extradition rights, deputies said, and was returned to Ulster County Wednesday. He is charged with absconding from temporary work release in the second degree.

Martinez was originally jailed on a charge of second degree criminal trespass.

A second man, Joseph Fassino, 18, who escaped with Martinez, was captured Oct. 23 by Woodstock Constables and returned to jail.

According to deputies, both men had been working on the Blue Chip Horse Farm in Shwangunk Oct. 21, but were missing when deputies went there at about 5 p. m. to return them to jail.

FULL SERVICE BANKING FOR A BUSY DOCTOR OR THE HARRIED NURSES.

Banking Chase Manhattan can be the right prescription for people on the run.

Take Chase checking. It's the easy way to uncomplicate the money in your life.

Regular checking. For people who write a lot of checks.

Special checking. For people who write just a few—50¢ a month and 10¢ for each check.

There are also savings certificates. How about 6.50% interest. Minimum $1,000 balance. Money kept on deposit for two-and-a-half to 10 years gets the full interest.

Too long? Then try 6.00% interest. Minimum $1,000 balance. Money kept on deposit for one to two-and-a-half years gets the full interest.

Still too long? Earn 5.50% interest. Minimum $1,000 balance. Money kept on deposit for at least 90 days gets the full interest.

And regular savings. You get 5% compounded daily from day of deposit to day of withdrawal for a 5.13% yield on a balance of $5 or more.

And Chase has many convenient ways to borrow. You might want an instalment loan for a car, a home improvement loan with up to five years to pay, or any other personal loan with a good reason behind it.

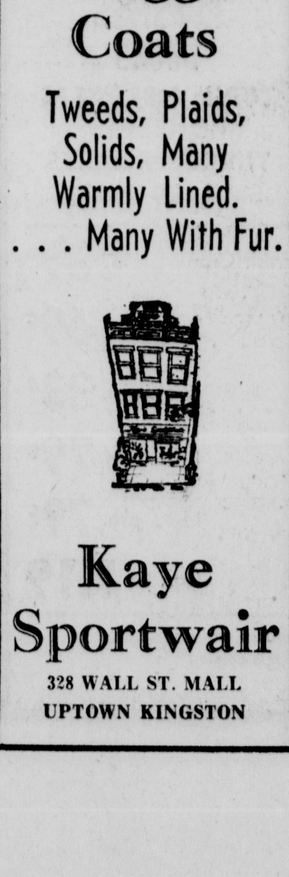

There's Chase BankAmericard®. It takes three minutes, and there's no co-signer, no history of your life. If you don't have a card, you can get one from Chase. No fee.

So whether you're the doctor, the nurse, a telephone operator, or a store manager, Chase Manhattan can be a super fringe benefit for people who work hard and long hours.

Coal May Regain Status as 'King of Energy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coal, the dethroned king of energy, may regain soon its former status as scientists explore new ways to utilize the nation's most abundant fossil fuel.

More than $3 billion is expected to be spent on a crash coal research program designed to reduce the nation's dependency on oil and natural gas.

Dr. Gorman Smith, director of the Atomic Energy Commission's energy reorganization commission, said recently "the question ... is how coal is to increase its contribution to our energy requirements."

Smith, who is drafting a five-year, $10-billion energy research program for President Nixon, predicts more than $3 billion of the total will be spent to find ways to substitute coal for oil and natural gas.

Some of the money already is flowing to researchers. George Fumich, acting director of the Office of Coal Research, said the program "has become a national priority. After years on a starvation diet, we're lately being force fed."

Coal declined as the nation's primary fuel with the availability of cheap natural gas and domestic and imported crude oil. The environmental crusade to clean the nation's air also forced a cutback as utilities and industries switched from coal to cleaner burning fuels.

Research is expected to probe ways to make coal a cleaner fuel by reducing the amount of sulfur and fine soot particles that escape into the atmosphere when the substance is burned.

Scientists also will experiment to find ways to convert coal into a liquid that can be substituted for fuel oil, a process that is the least advanced of all proposed research projects.

Mining techniques, both surface and deep, will come under scrutiny.

"Surface mining techniques have to do with learning how to restore in acceptable ways the land after the (top soil) has been stripped back and you've gotten the coal," said Smith.

New underground or deep mine techniques also must be developed to carve out coal seams in the West that run up to hundreds of feet thick, far larger than in Eastern fields, Smith said.

The research program "foresees some increase in strip mining of coal in the West accompanied by vigorous regulations on restoring the land to acceptable use where that's gone on," he said.

But he noted that "major amounts of coal are still going to have to come up from deep mining techniques simply because that's where most of it is," Smith stated.

Gasoline Rationing Plans Being Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's contingency plan for rationing gasoline envisions a World War II-type program supervised by 6,000 local boards which would dole out coupons to each motorist.

But just how much gasoline each motorist could expect still has not been decided.

The plan, developed by the Office of Emergency Preparedness and modified over the years, is one of various options now being considered by the Nixon administration if gasoline rationing is required.

Both John A. Love, director of President Nixon's Energy Policy Office, and Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton have said that rationing may be needed early next year.

Basically, the contingency plan calls for issuance of rationing checks or coupons to all motor vehicle owners. There would be two kinds of coupons, one for essential, the other for nonessential use.

The plan at this stage does not answer the question in the minds of most motorists: how much fuel will each individual be entitled to. That decision will be left to the administration to determine as supply demands.

Kenneth Lay, deputy undersecretary of the interior, said Tuesday a basic individual ration of 10 to 15 gallons per week for each motorist "is the most likely range, at this point."

Lay also said "active consideration" was being given to an early extension of mandatory fuel allocations at the wholesale level, which already apply to heating oil, to include gasoline and other petroleum products.

Mandatory allocation, however, would control gasoline distribution only at the wholesale level and motorists would still be free to buy gasoline wherever they can find it, until direct consumer rationing comes along to set limits on their purchasing.

The government figures that the gasoline-rationing contingency program would cost an estimated $170 million a year, including about $64 million for staffing the local boards with two clerks apiece.

The coupons issued would be non-transferrable and a signature would be required when a sale was made.

To get resupplied, local gas stations would have to collect these coupons and give them back to the government.

According to the plan, the program would be run by an Energy Rationing Agency. There would be a national office with 150 employes, 10 regional offices with a total of 150 staff members and 100 district offices with 900 people working.

The local rationing boards would be set up in cooperation with state governments, which would use members of local draft boards to help select the members.

To get the program started, the plan suggests that the President ban the sale of gasoline nationwide for several days so that the rationing plan can go into effect without consumers rushing in to hoard supplies during the last hours.

Dollar Shows Climb as Gold Price Drops

LONDON (UPI) — The price of gold took its biggest drop in five years Wednesday following a U.S.-European decision to free bullion prices, wiping out millions of dollars in speculators' profits.

On the London market, the precious mineral closed at $90 an ounce, a $6.75 drop from Tuesday's price, and the largest sag in the price of gold since the so-called two-tier system was introduced five years ago.

At the same time, the dollar held to its highest level in nine months in Tokyo and climbed in Paris, Zurich and Frankfurt.

The United States and six European nations Wednesday ended the two-tier system under which they had agreed not to sell their $45 billion in bullion holdings at free market prices of up to $120-an-ounce.

The governments of Britain, Belgium, Italy, Holland, Switzerland, West Germany and the United Sstates had sold gold only to each other and just at the "official" price of $42.22 an ounce until Wednesday's decision to scrap the agreement.

The second tier of the two-tier system was the free market, where supply and demand decided the price of gold, sometimes changing every hour.

While there was no known move by any of the seven to sell any gold Wednesday, frightened speculators rushed to unload their holdings, pushing the market down.

Financial experts predicted abandoning the two-tier system would help stabilize world money markets by forcing fearful would-be speculators from the market. Speculators would be scared off, they said, by the fact central banks could sell gold at any time to fight speculative assaults on the price of the metal.

Economist Pierre A. Rinfret, a former adviser to President Nixon, said the decision means the U.S. and European governments "now recognize that the true price of gold is $100 an ounce.

"By a stroke of the pen, the United States has increased the value of its gold reserves from $10 billion to $25 billion," Rinfret said.

General Motors Urges 'Omit Emit Controls'

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors is urging adoption of a plan to save gasoline by taking emission controls off about 40 million late-model cars. It claims savings could amount to five billion gallons a year.

The savings could be more than three times greater than that in 10 years if proposed federal emissions standards were relaxed, General Motors President Edward N. Cole said in an interview Wednesday.

His statement came as plans for gasoline surtaxes or rationing continued to be discussed in Washington.

"We've got some people in Washington who are acquainting people on the Public Works Committee with this proposition," Cole said. "It's being put into perspective."

The five billion gallons is seven per cent of the 69.2 billion gallons of gasoline used in U.S. passenger cars in 1971, the last year for which figures are available, according to the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association.

Other motor vehicles used 28.2 billion gallons of gasoline, the association said.

Cole said the idea is to remove emission control devices required by federal law and change ignition and carburation on 1970 through 1974 models. Some 10 million cars were sold in each of the four years.

Trooper's Truck Proves Undoing Of Youth

TOWN OF CAIRO — A 16-year-old Greene County youth chose the wrong vehicle as his second consecutive auto theft Wednesday night — and was caught by the state trooper whose pickup truck he drove off in.

Leeds State Police said Trooper William P. Fitzmaurice preparing to go to bed at his residence in the Town of Cairo Wednesday night at about 11:30 p. m. when he saw a pickup truck stop in front of his house.

While that did not necessarily seem strange, what followed did. The driver of the pickup left his vehicle and climbed in Fitzmaurice's pickup truck and drove off, state police said. The off duty trooper jumped into his private car and gave chase, halting the youth a short distance away.

The youth, whose name was not released because he is eligible for youthful offender status, was charged with two counts of grand larceny after it was discovered the first pickup truck had been reported stolen from a Catskill motel earlier in the night.

The youth was placed in the custody of his parents pending a preliminary hearing at a later date.

Con Ed Plant Out of Service

NEW YORK (UPI)—Consolidated Edison's nuclear power plant No. 2 at Indian Point will be out of service "for at least several weeks" while work crews repair a crack in a water pipe in the unit's non-nuclear system.

A Con Ed spokesman said Wednesday that engineers from Westinghouse Electric, who built the plant, are inspecting the piping system to determine the cause of the crack.

The 873,000 killowatt unit was undergoing testing operations to bring the plant to full power, under licensing conditions of the Atomic Energy Commission, the utility said.

The plant's highest output during testing has been 620,000 kw, the spokesman added.

The crack in the water line occurred Tuesday, the spokesman said. The line is one of four that supplies water to the steam boilers.

GROUNDSKEEPER HONORED — Alain Grumberg (R) garden and grounds superintendent at Mohonk Mountain House, accepts the Professional Grounds Maintenance Honor Award for supervising the "Best Maintained Resort Gardens" in the country from Jack Hancock publisher of Grounds Maintenance Magazine.

Mohonk Man Gets Award

LAKE MOHONK — Alain Gruberg, garden and grounds superintedent at Mohonk Mountain House, has been honored with the Professional Grounds Maintenance Honor Award for supervising the "best maintained resort gardens in the United States."

The resort category was one of 12 categories honored in a national competition by the Professional Grounds Management Society at their recent annual conference held in West Virginia. Grumberg was presented a plaque by Jack Hancock, publisher of Grounds Maintenance Magazine.

The occasion marked the first year of the award, designed to bring recognition to outstanding individual accomplishment in grounds maintenance and to challenge professionals to higher levels of excellence.

Grumberg, in charge of the Mohonk grounds since 1968, also was elected to a one-year term on the Society's board of directors.

Grumberg maintains over 100 acres at Mohonk Mountain House including the main show gardens, herb gardens, the nine-hole golf course, putting, bowling and croquet greens, rock gardens, and an assortment of specimen trees, lawns, and shrubbery and flower borders.

He also runs the Mohonk nursery where he sells more than 4,000 house plants a year to guests who want to take a bit of the area's scenic beauty home with them.

Accord Development

TOWN OF ROCHESTER — A development corporation plans to build a 160-unit housing development on a plot of land near Accord.

Peter Smith, architect for the Claverach Corporation, appeared Tuesday night before the Rochester Planning Board with sketches of the homes and condominiums the corporation plans to erect on a 160-acre plot along Queen's Highway in Accord.

The land has been purchased by the corporation from Jasper "Tex" Worley, who has developed about 40 acres of the original 200-acre plot of land.

The development, to be known as Accord Cluster Housing, will be a combination of condominiums and detached one-family homes in a cluster development, Smith said. The development will include a self-contained, three-stage water purification system and a separate sewage treatment plant.

In other action, th planning board heard Alex Diachishin, engineer for developer Irenus Harasymiak, presented a site plan for 19 housing lots on Stonykill Creek near Route 44-55.

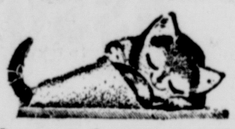

The board did not grant site plan approval for the development, saying that Diachishin would have to redraw the road through the plot because it terminates in a cul-de-sac of more than 750 feet, the limit on such roads under town law.

The plans call for construction of 1[illegible] single-family dwellings on the 19-acre plot.

Commission Plans New Meetings

MARGARETVILLE

Reports from the Temporary Commission to Study the Catskills and from members of the Catskill Center for Conservation and Development (CCCD) were heard at a recent meeting of the CCCD in Margaretville.

Albert Hall, executive director of the Temporary Commission to Study the Catskills, reported that the commission recently met with county planners of Ulster, Greene, Delaware and Sullivan counties, and with county cooperative extension agents to gain information about the needs and problems of each county.

Other meetings have also been held with members of the departments of Commerce and Agriculture and Markets. Hall also reported that a meeting is scheduled soon with the Board of Equalization and Assessment.

Rev. William Harter of Margaretville reported on restoration work being done in Arkville on the Fairview House, which will eventually house the Erpf Catskill Cultural Center.

Other projects reported on included plans to preserve the Longyear House in Woodstock, the potential devlopment of a park and shopping plaza in Delhi, land use studies being planned in Woodstock and Andes, and an attempt to preserve the Dry Brook Methodist Church.

Public hearings to be held by the Power Authority of the State of New York on Nov. 19 and Dec. 4 in Middleburg and Cobleskill and by the Department of Transportation on Nov. 27 in Cobleskill were called to the attention of those at the meeting.

It was announced that the next meeting of the CCCD will be held Dec. 8 in Hobart, with agriculture as the focus of the meeting. A panel of practicing farmers will be in attendance.

Library Members Elected

POUGHKEEPSIE

Election of three new members to the Board of Trustees highlighted the 14th annual meeting of the Mid-Hudson Library System held recently in Poughkeepsie.

Named to the board were Mrs. Elizabeth Manion, president of the Marlborough Library; John Weinman, vice president of the Hudson Area Association Library; and James McDonald treasurer of the Kent Public Library.

Altman W. Lampe, MHLS president, welcomed 150 representatives of 63 member libraries of the five-county area who were in attendance, and presented certificates to outgoing trustees Martin Rubin of Phoenicia, former board president, and Raymond A. Freeman, Hudson, whose terms expired.

Topics discussed at the meeting included revenue sharing, and library service for the disadvantaged. Robert Kaelin, vice president of the Board of Trustees of Elting Memorial Library in New Paltz, outlined the steps taken by his library's successful application for revenue sharing funds noting that federal guidelines stipulate that public libraries are high on the priority list of agencies eligible to receive such support.

Mrs. Doris Free, assistant librarian of the Howland Circulating Library, spoke on the Summer Outreach Program in Beacon involving the Salvation Army, Unity-Interfaith Apartments, NSO and HVOIC.

Msgr. Joseph O'Brein, trustee of the Mahopac Library, told of experiences faced in efforts to raise $300,000 for an expansion fund campaign, noting that nearly $50,000 has been raised to date.

Martin Rubin served as chairman of elections and Leon Karpel, director of the Mid-Hudson Library System, introduced the speakers.

1974 Dog Licenses Available in Hurley

HURLEY

Dog licenses for 1974 are now available for Town of Hurley residents, and may be obtained at Town Clerk Raymond Croswell's office at 51 Russell Road, Hurley.

Licenses may also be obtained by mailing application cards, along with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, enclosing a check or money order. Fees are: spayed females and males, $2.35; femaes, $5.35. Current licenses expire on Dec. 31.

A special meeting of the Hurley Town Board will be held on Monday, Nov. 19, at 8 p.m. at the Hurley Fire House to discuss the 1974 budget before its adoption by the town board.

The board will hold another special meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 20, to open bids for a new 1974 three-quarter ton pickup truck. The meeting will be held at the town hall on Main Street, Hurley, beginning at 9 p.m.

Overnight parking restrictions become effective in the town tonight and continue until March 15, 1974. No parking will be allowed on town roads between midnight and 6 a.m.

The regular town board meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 26, in the West Hurley Fire House.

New Naval Missile For Soviet Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is perfecting a new naval missile that could hit U.S. warships from over 400 miles away even if they maneuvered to escape, U.S. intelligence sources report.

The sources said the Soviets recently resumed testing their longest-range ship-fired missile in far northern waters after an unexplained seven month lapse.

Analysts estimate the new missile, identified as the SSNX13, probably will be ready for installation on Soviet naval vessels in about a year.

That will increase the threat to an American fleet already vulernable to missile attack.

A senior Navy research official told Congress earlier this year that "from a fleet defensive standpoint, our most critical threat is presented by the antiship missile."

The Soviet navy, which started developing antiship missiles years before the U.S. Navy recognized their value, already has at least five types with its fleets.

But none of the present Russian naval missiles is as far ranging or as sophisticated as the new SSNX13, according to intelligence sources.

Technical details are being kept secret, but U.S. experts believe that Russian planes or satellites probably would be used to help spot enemy ships.

Information on target location, speed and course would be beamed down to Soviet surface vessels carrying the missiles, which then would be fired toward the general area in which the enemy ships were steaming.

Once in that area, built-in homing devices would take over and direct the missiles at the enemy ships. Sources say the SSNX13 missile warhead can change direction to follow target ships if they try to evade.

The U.S. Navy, which long has concentrated its main striking power in aircraft carriers, is now working on its first missile designed specifically to attack ships.

This new missile, called Harpoon, is a radar-homing weapon with a huge high explosive warhead and a range of 60 miles.

The U.S. Navy intends to mount the Harpoon on destroyers, frigates and other surface ships. It also can be fired from submarines and aircraft.

The Navy plans to spend more than $66 million developing the Harpoon this year and a similar amount next year, but there have been estimates that the total cost to equip the U.S. fleet will come to around $1 billion.

Cultural Center Proposed For Poughkeepsie Landmarks

POUGHKEEPSIE — A New York City consulting agency has recommended that two of Poughkeepsie's historical landmarks, Vassar Brothers Institute and the Vassar Brothers Home, be rehabilitated to provide facilities for a "Vassar Street Cultural Center."

The study by Knight, Gladieux and Smith, Inc., was conducted in cooperation with the McCann Foundation, which is spearheading a drive for a new civic center in cooperation with the Poughkeepsie Area Fund.

A public campaign to raise funds for the new $3 million civic center, which will house a skating rink and multi-purpose facilities, is now underway.

The report on the potential development of the two Vassar buildings into a cultural center says that at present "because the county's cultural organizations are scattered so widely throughout the Hudson Valley and have marginal facilities, their impact on the community and their growth potential are both limited."

The cost of rmodeling the two buildings is estimated at $320,000 in the report. To be housed in the buildings will be an art gallery, a rehearsal area, classrooms, offices, and display areas.

"The contribution which the proposed center would make to the enrichment of life for Dutchess County residents . . . cannot be estimated," the report concludes.

KOSSMAN, McDOWELL AND NDANDANI

Cape Town Principal at Paltz

NEW PALTZ

Eric Ndandani, principal of the Fezeka High School, Gululetu Township, Cape Town, South Africa recently visited the Campus Learning Center, State University College, New Paltz.

He was given an extensive tour by the school's principal, Dr. F. Russell Abrams.

The tour was arranged by Dr. David McDowell, director of ITEP (International Teacher Education Program) of the College. Mrs. Anna Kossman assisted in preparations for the visit. Ndandani came to the United States as a guest of the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs through the International Visitors Program.

Ndandani viewed a student-produced television newscast with interest. He discussed open education with several teachers of open classrooms. The operations of the Child Study Center were explained in depth. He was impressed with the quality and variety of educational undertakings at the school.

Orchestra Concert Set

NEW PALTZ

The New Paltz College-Community Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert of the season Tuesday evening, Nov. 20.

Among the works to be performed are the "Autumn" and "Winter" concertos from Vivaldi's renowned composition "The Seasons." The orchestra will also play Haydn's Symphony No. 70, Gluck's Overture to "Iphigenie en Aulide," Aaron Copland's "Quiet City" for solo trumpet, English horn and strings, and Mikhail Ippolitov-Ivanov's colorful "Procession of the Sardar."

Conducting will be Lance Premezzi, a graduate of the Eastman School of Music and Yale University, who has been music director of the College-Community Orchestra since 1969 Assisting in the presentation of the program will be two faculty members of the New Paltz Department of Music: Mary Jane Corry, harpsichord, and Linda Cummiskey, violin.

The general public as well as the college community is welcome to attend this concert, for which there will be no admission charge. The performance will be given in Rebecca McKenna Theatre and is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m. The event is made possible by grants from the college's Student Government Association and the New York State Council on the Arts.

House Chairman Attacks PO Advertising Campaign

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th Dist.) was joined today by Rep. Thaddeus Dulski of New York, chairman of the House Committee on the Post Office and Civil Service, in chastising the proposed $3.8 million advertising campaign by the U.S. Postal Service.

Gilman had previously criticized the Postal Service for planning a massive newspaper ad campaign "rather than spending the $3.8 million on improving the postal service."

Dulski advised Gilman today that he was in "complete agreement" and wrote to the postal service that he had "grave reservations about this entire advertising program. The purpose obviously, is not to generate new revenues for the postal service, but rather appears to be an "image building" program. The expenditure of $3.8 million for this purpose, therefore, would not, in my opinion, be warranted."

Gilman Joins Recess Charges

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26) has joined a group of Congressmen in opposing plans for a 10-day Congressional recess at Thanksgiving.

The leadership has been planning a Thanksgiving Recess between Nov. 15 and Nov. 26.

"With so many crucial matters before the House," Gilman said, "it is irresponsible to take a long recess at this time. This is a time to put our nation's needs before personal convenience."

Gilman cited the pending nomination of Gerald Ford for Vice President and the appointment of a special Watergate prosecutor as examples of urgent business that should be attended to before the House considers taking any recess.

"It is not being responsible to shelve the people's business while we all go home," Gilman said.

Guilty Plea

William J. Bradford, 28, of 202 Third Avenue, arrested Sept. 16 on 24 vehicle and traffic charges after a high speed chase through the streets of Kingston, pleaded guilty to eight charges in City Court Wednesday. Bradford, who appeared before City Judge Hubert A. Richter, was fined $270 on the charges and had his license revoked.

United Fund Response

KINGSTON — Miss May Evans, president of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, and Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Jr., a member of the Board of Directors, report that Kingston physicians are responding well to the current United Way campaign.

UCAMH is one of the 16 agencies that will benefit from the current campaign. Seven of these agencies offer services in which there is a direct relationship to the field of health care and rehabilitation in which physicians are specially concerned, namely the Association for Retarded Rehabilitation Center, Family Service Center, Gateway Industries, Homemaker Service, Ulster County Blood Bank and the Ulster County Association for Mental Health.

Treatment Plant in Rosendale

ROSENDALE — The first laundry waste treatment plant in the Northeast went into fulltime operation last week at the Plaza Laundramat in the village of Rosendale.

Most laundramats use either drain fields or municipal sewage systems, according to Harold Eklund, partner. "This is the only laundramat north of Long Island to have its own treatment plant," he said at the completion of final testing last week.

"The System is expensive — it's running us something like $22,000, including installation — but complete waste treatment is the only way we can be sure we're not polluting the Rondout," said Eklund. Prior to the installation, typical soapy water had been discharging into a small brook that emptied into Rondout Creek.

"In some ways our waste water is now purer than the village water coming in," said Eklund. To dramatize the point, he filled a glass with the plant overflow and drank it.

The laundramat produces some 8,000 gallons of waste water a day, while the plant is designed to treat up to three times that amount.

The equipment differs from conventional waste treatment plants in that most units work on a biological principle, whereas this system is strictly chemical in nature, explained Joe Neylight, an engineer with Metpro Systems Division, Lansdale, Pa., developer of the plant. Though designed for laundry wastes, such a system could be used to handle domestic sewage if the need arose, says Neylight.

"We're glad to see such a progressive attitude toward protecting the environment," said Lee Comar, chairman of the Rosendale Environmental Commission, who was present at the ceremony. "This represents a large expenditure on the owner's part, and we applaud his attitude."

Eklund forsees the day when all those laundramats not hooked into municipal sewage systems will either have to install their own treatment plant or go out of business.

IN OPERATION — Harold Eklund (L) partner of the Plaza Laundramat in Rosendale, explains the operation of his newly-installed waste treatment plant to Lee Comar, chairman of the Rosendale Environmental Commission, while Mickey Eklund checks the level of the waste water.

Two Arrested

Two Kingston men were arrested by Ellenville State Police Wednesday night on charges of criminal possession of a controlled substance (alleged quantity of drugs) in the seventh degree during a routine traffic check. Charged were Peter Hamilton, 19, and Eiro Castagna, 32. Exact street addresses were not immediately available. Arraigned before Rochester Town Justice A. Brian Lawrence, both were released on $100 bail each pending reappearances Nov. 19.

Appointments at New Paltz

NEW PALTZ — Dr. Sami I. Boulos, former chairman of the Department of Elementary Education at the State University College at new Paltz, has been appointed acting associate dean of education, the college's president, Dr. Stanley K. Coffman Jr., announced today.

Dr. Boulos' position is a new one, the second associate deanship in the Faculty of Education, and carries responsibilities in the areas of curriculum and instruction. The appointment was made by the Trustees of the State University of New York.

The new acting chairman of the Department of Elementary Education is Dr. Maurice A. Recchia. Dr. Richard J. Tofte has also been named acting chairman of the Department of Chemistry, replacing Dr. Angelos V. Patsis, whose appointment as acting dean of graduate studies was announced earlier.

A native of Cairo, the United Arab Republic, Dr. Boulos holds a bachelor's degree in biology and chemistry from Cairo University, a master's degree and a professional diploma in education from the University of Ein Shams, and doctorate in science education from the University of Florida. His experience in the UAR included teaching at the elementary, junior high school levels and in teacher training institutes.

He first came to this country in 1955 under a Point 4 award to visit public school and teacher-training institutions. After holding a graduate assistantship at the University of Flordia from 1957 to 1959 he joined the New Paltz faculty in 1959 as an associate professor, teaching courses in methods of teaching science and mathematics and in evaluation and research. He was named chairman of the department in 1968.

He has been active in professional affairs, research, and service to the college community. He has published a book in biology for the high schools of Egypt and several articles on science teaching and other subjects.

Freer States Bridge Near Completion

ESOPUS — Supervisor George Freer reported at the Wednesday night meeting of the Esopus Town Board that "the bulk of the work was done" on the Rondout Creek Bridge, and the bridge should be opened in the near future.

Freer said he had conducted an inspection of the bridge last week with town board members, Highway Superintendent Joseph Clark, state engineers, and the contractor. According to Freer, curbing and sidewalks on the bridge were the main items left to be done.

He said the contractor was hoping to reopen the bridge by Thanksgiving, and state engineers were hoping for an opening in the early part of December.

The Ulster County Legislature, in a recent meeting, voted to turn over the Connelly Road and North Broadway in Sleightsburg to the town, but Freer said the town wanted some work done on North Broadway before the town accepted it. A letter from Clark to the county was authorized by the board requesting additional drainage work be done on the road.

According to Freer, the town board went on record Wednesday night as agreeing with legislation passed by the County Legislature calling for a moratorium on the development of nuclear power plants pending further research into their safety. The town Environmental Conservation Commission requested Wednesday night that the board pass a resolution similar to those passed in the towns of Woodstock and New Paltz opposing all nuclear power plant building within a 50-mile radius of the town. This was referred to Town Attorney Norman Kellar for study.

Freer said a number of people attended the Wednesday town board meeting to discuss the proposed power plant to be located in the Towns of Lloyd and Esopus. Freer said there were some "pros," but mostly "cons."

The town is going to take a number of measures to meet the energy crisis. Freer said all thermostats in town buildings were going to be set back; all unnecessary lighting would be ended; there would be no idling of town trucks; community groups were being requested to keep the use of the town hall to a minimum, with smaller groups being asked to combine their meeting dates with other groups; and that Freer was going to try to do most of his town business at home rather than in his town office.

A suggestion from the floor by Joseph Montella was accepted, said Freer, to ask all town residents to hold down on outside Christmas displays. Freer said the displays were beautiful, but used a great deal of energy.

According to Freer, the town's businessmen have already said they would curtail their displays for the coming holiday season.

Freer said he had already received calls from people whose suppliers of home heating oil had run out. He said a list of these people was to be compiled by Kellar, and referred to the County Board of Health, which will have jurisdiction in the matter.

Mall Problems in Ellenville

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE — The mall on Ellenville's Market Street, long on the drawing board but never having progressed beyond that, was the subject of most of the discussion at the meeting of the Ellenville Urban Renewal Agency held Wednesday night.

The agency had been expected to vote on what form, if any, the Market Street Mall will have, but that was scotched by the whole matter entering litigation.

Richard Rothman, the proprietor of the Market Street stationery store, Richie's, has brought suit in State Supreme Court to force the agency to begin construction on the mall immediately. Rothman contends that the Urban Renewal Plan calls for a permanent mall, and that is what he is seeking.

The Ellenville agency, in the suit, is contending that the agency has the discretion as to when and in what form the mall will be built, according to agency attorney Albert I. Lonstein.

The suit is scheduled for Ulster County Supreme Court Dec. 7.

Ben Miller, a Market Street pharmacist, delivered a statement at the Wednesday meeting saying he was "100 per cent" opposed to the mall, and he questioned its legality. Rothman contends that he bought the Urban Renewal property on Market Street to build his store on the assurance that there would be a mall, but Miller questioned the legality of any such assurance.

Lonstein pointed out that the mall had been in Ellenville's Urban Renewal plan since it was adopted in 1954, and said that Ellenville had been told at one point by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development that a "material change" such as deletion of the mall would require the consent of the affected property owners. Rothman has said he would never give his consent. Lonsetin said the HUD opinion was also being tested in the court suit.

In other business, a favorable report from agency engineer Alex Diachishin was received on the plans for the Ellenville National Bank for its proposed building on Urban Renewal parcels 4 and 6.

The Ellenville Rescue Squad is seeking Urban Renewal land for a new building, and representatives of the squad are to meet with Urban Renewal Director Robert Peck to see what parcels are available. The squad's first choice is the former Ray Black property.

Peck reported that demolition of several buildings on Urban Renewal land had been begun by DeGroodt Enterprises of Poughkeepsie, with four buildings, including those on the former American Legion and Rudolph properties, already down and in the process of being hauled away.

Peck said anyone wanting something in the buildings to be demolished was welcome to it, as the contractor had indicated he wanted no salvage.

Agency treasurer Joseph Galaniuk reported that he had prepared a fiscal budget for the Ellenville agency and submitted it to HUD for approval. He said the budget showed it would take $1.7 million to finally complete the Ellenville project. The budget runs through Feb. 9, 1975.

Peck said negotiations were currently underway to acquire the last six parcels in the project area slated for acquisition.

Red Hook Town Board Approves '74 Budget

RED HOOK — The Red Hook Town Board this week approved a budget for 1974 that will see a decline in townwide rates per thousand of assessed valuation.

Although total appropriations are up sharply, from $252,613 to $332,726, increases in revenue sharing and other revenues will leave the amount to be raised by taxes virtually unchanged, $128,330 as compared to the current figure of $127,925. An increased total valuation for properties in the town is expected to lower the rate per thousnd from the current $15.15 to an estimated $14.03.

Rates for special districts in the town, with current figures in parentheses, are: Red Hook village $4.59 ($4.93); lighting district $3.10 ($2.98); Red Hook fire district $2.69 ($2.86); and Tivoli fire district $4.56 ($4.44).

The board renewed it annual contract under which town highway crews remove snow from county roads within the town. Roads to be plowed include Lasker Road, East and West Hurley Corners Roads, River Road and Linden Avenue.

Four persons were named to the newly formed nine-member town Environmental Commission. Named were Mrs. Julia Schreiber, Mrs. Hayes Myers, Harold Hansen, and Henry Webster. A chairman will be selectd later by commission members.

The board approved a blanket resolution to pay expenses for any board members who attend the statewide Association of Towns convention in New York City February 4-6.

In other action the board voted to raise travel reimbursement for town employes from the present eight cents to 12 cents a mile to match the rate paid by Dutchess County, voted to delete an old shed at the town gravel bank site from the town's umbrella insurance protection policy, notified Central Hudson to install lights at six previously unlighted rural intersections in the town, and voted to advertise for fuel oil bids for the town hall and highway garage.

Smoking Session

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Interagency Council on the Hazards of Smoking held its first meeting of the 1973-74 year recently to discuss plans for National Education Week on Smoking.

Miss Mae Evans, chairman, announced that the basic objective of the 1974 National Education Week or Smoking (Jan. 11-17) is an intensive media emphasis during the week to publicize the rights of the non-smoker and to focus on specific activities and events which will help sharpen public awareness and provide a springboard for a year-round program in this area.

In attendance at the meeting were two new council members, Miss Kathleen Shurter, R.N., and Mrs. Geraldine Nathan, nurse-teacher at J. Watson Bailey School, along with Anthony Torres, minister of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, E. Robert Johnson, executive director, and Mrs. Margie H. Van Meter, program assistant of the Catskill Region TB and RD Association, and Mrs. Paul Wendrow, executive director of the Ulster County Unit, American Cancer Society.

Holiday Closings

KINGSTON

Most offices of the Ulster County Office Building, Main and Fair Streets and offices in other county buildings will have an extended holiday on the Friday after Thanksgiving, Nov. 23.

The exceptions according to County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) are the Sheriff's Office, Motor Vehicle Bureau, Surrogate's Office, Tresurer's Office and the County Clerk's Office for the recording of papers. The County Legislature Office will also be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. All offices will be closed for Thanksgiving, except the Sheriff's Office.

Easter Seal Clinic Held

ELLENVILLE

The Easter Seal Society held a free hearing clinic in Ellenville recently, during which 75 persons were screened.

Those tested included preschoolers and senior citizens, and according to Pat Deptula, the audiologist for the clinic, 60 per cent of the people tested appeared to have losses, and 23 per cent need further testing or treatment. Appropriate recommendations were made for these people.

An Easter Seal Free Hearing Clinic will be in Kingston Dec. 6. The location will be announced.

Since the initiation of the Easter Seal Free Hearing Clinic Program, 8,957 persons throughout New York State have received hearing tests.

Area Library Nominations

KINGSTON

Nominations for trustees of the Kingston Area Library are being accepted up to the deadline of Nov. 24.

The Library Association elects trustees each January for three-year terms. Serving on the nominating committee to select candidates are Carolyn Short, chairman; Len Cane, Raymond W. Garraghan, William Kelly and Ruth Poley.

Trustees must be or become members of the Kingston Area Library Association and they must live within the area served by the association.

Any person interested in serving as a trustee or wishing to recommend someone may contact Mrs. Short by telephone or send a brief resume to her at 207 Washington Avenue, Kingston, no later than the Nov. 24 deadline.

Credit Seminar Is Planned

POUGHKEEPSIE

The Mid-Hudson chapter, National Association of Accountants, will discuss "Credit and Collection" at a seminar meeting Monday, Nov. 19, at the Italian Center in Poughkeepsie.

Louis O. Foerschler, credit manager of Hess Oil Corporation in Poughkeepsie, will lead the discussion on "Credit Before." Foreschler, a graduate of Poughkeepsie schools, attended New York University and has worked in the credit field since 1939.

"Collection After" will be presented by Martin Gross, chairman, Accounts Receivable Management Committee of the Medical - Dental - Hospital Bureaus of America, and director and chairman of the Education Council of the American Collectors Association.

The Association, founded in 1919, has today more than 300 chapters. In the recent report of chapter standings of the Chapter Performance Program, the Mid-Hudson chapter is in fourth place in the nationwide competition.

NEW

Ahead of its time!
Available now in many screen sizes, in many styles.
The amazing SYLVANIA GT-MATIC™
First true self-adjusting color set ever.
NEW three-part color level monitoring system helps remember your preference. Corrects most problems caused by signal changes due to your antenna or cable, your local station, or the network program.
NEW locked memory controls. The Sylvania GT-Matic is so automatic, the color controls are locked inside the set. And you get a key to keep them that way.
NEW Sylvania integrated circuit that's like a miniature digital computer. It holds the picture so absolutely steady, we've been able to eliminate the vertical control entirely.
NEW extremely simplified 100% solid-state chassis. A snap to service. Circuits are logically grouped on three separate plug-in modules with plug-in transistors. Service is fast and easy, often right in the home.
TM-Trademark GTE Sylvania Incorporated.

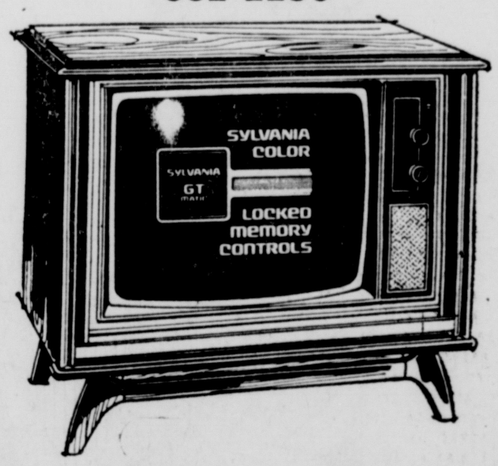

Your key to self-adjusting color TV
Color Adjustments are made by expert Sylvania technicians. Then the memory controls are locked with a key. But personal preferences vary. And your geographical location can affect color reception. That's why you get the key to the locked GT-Matic™ memory controls. Should you ever wish to change your GT-Matic controls, just unlock the control center and adjust for color intensity, tint contrast or brightness. The GT-Matic system will remember your color preference. No more adjustments are necessary. GT-Matic consistently delivers color the way you like it. And the key keeps little fingers from playing with knobs they should leave alone.
TM-Trademark GTE Sylvania Incorporated

You may never have to touch your new Sylvania GT-Matic™ color TV except to turn it on or change channels
When you watch television on a new Sylvania GT-Matic, you won't see us adjusting your picture. But we will be.
The all-new Sylvania GT-Matic color tuning system sees the picture before you do and automatically corrects the color for you.
It's so automatic, the controls are inside the set. The vertical control has been eliminated. Brightness, Contrast, Tint and Color controls are locked up. Only the on-off/volume control and channel selection controls are left outside. That's all you should have to touch.
You watch the program. We watch the picture.
TM-Trademark GTE Sylvania Incorporated

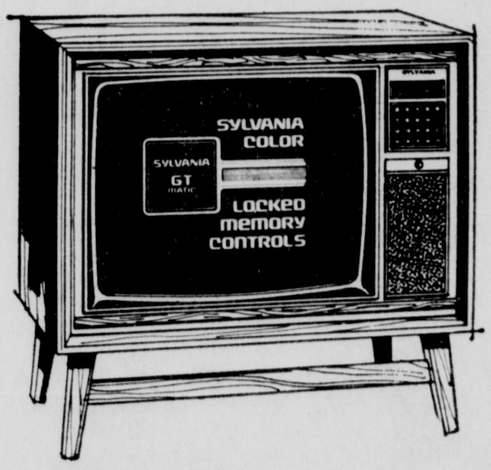

Touch-Tune™ remote tuning control
Sylvania's remote tuning control lets you turn your Touch-Tune GT-Matic™ on and off, switch VHF and UHF channels, raise and lower the volume . . . from anywhere in the room. All you do is press a button.

Study Club of New Paltz Welcomes New Members

Study Club of New Paltz met November 6 in the Joe Deyo Room of the Inter-County Savings Bank. Welcomed into membership were Mrs. Albert H. Schoonmaker and Mrs. Phillia Deyo, a former member of the Club who has recently returned to West Park after many years in California.

After enjoying the refreshments prepared by Mrs. Chalres Still and her committee: Mrs. Stanley Beatty, Mrs. James Gray, Mrs. John Glancy, and Mrs. John Jacobson, those present were entertained and enlightened by a description of a recent trip to Kenya taken by Mr. and Mrs. Keith Smiley. The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Douglas Shepard, program chairman of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Smiley went to the Western Province of Kenya last January and Febraury to learn what assistance American Quakers could give to the projects of the Kenyan Quakers, who have enjoyed for the last 10 years independent status as a church. They visited the college which is being built in Kaimosi primarily for agricultural and business training for the densely populated area in that part of Kenya which lies near Lake Victoria. Kaimosi is also the center of a rapidly growing "cottage industry," where women prepare bead necklaces, handbags made of fish vertebrae, and wood products . The Quakers are helping with the marketing and display of such products and of such agricutlural products as strawberries. The people of Western Province live largely on maize, which they must carry to the "posho mill" three times a week for grinding, since ground meal spoils quickly in the climate.

The Smileys also spent two weeks at Kalsamega, abut 50 miles distant from Kaimosi, where the Kenyan Traders' Association is assisting local small businesses to finance and market the products which they manufacture, such as toys made from discarded foam rubber, and the beautifully designed cotton prints, which are now so much in demand for national park lodges and hotels in Africa that not much is available to other buyers. The local government has also set up in this town a rehabilitation center for the handicapped.

It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. John Wyman had been hosts to the boys of Elks Cottage, Highland School for Children, at the New Paltz-Highland High School football game. Another party of games had been arranged by Mrs. John Glancy and Mrs. Ray Snider at the school on November 9. The boys and their house parents participated in relay races, pool and pingpong. House parents include Edward Passante, Dorothy Piccione, Supervisor Ralph Warner, Mrs. Velma Clearwater, Mr. and Mrs. Snider, Matthew Snider, and Mrs. Glancy. Refreshments were served. The next event planned for the boys will be the annual Christmas party.

Mrs. Harry Jacobs Has 95th Birthday

Mrs. Harry S. Jacobs of Santa Monica, Cal., formerly of Kingston, was feted November 6 upon the occasion of her 95th birthday with a dinner party and entertainment attended by friends and neighbors, as well as members of the Hollywood film colony. Hosts of the occasion were Mrs. Jacobs' son, television writer Seaman Jacobs, and his wife June, whose Beverly Hills home was the scene of the festivities.

Mrs. Jacobs is the widow of Harry S. Jacobs, former City Treasurer of Kingston, and sister of the late Morris Block, four-term Mayor of this city.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT W. SUTTON of RD 4, Box 477, Kingston, celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary on November 10 with a dinner-party at Sunrise Hillcrest Lodge, Rosendale. Married November 9, 1943 in St. John's Episcopal Church in High Falls, they are the parents of two children: Mrs. Arnold (Sherry) Smith of High Falls and Scott Sutton, who resides at home. They have one granddaughter. Mr. Sutton is employed by the Ulster County Highway Department in Kingston. His wife is employed in the office of Universal Major Industries. More than 30 friends and relatives attended from Yonkers, Brooklyn, Rosendale, Purling, High Falls, Eddyville and Kingston. (Freeman photo by Johnson)

Book Project Aids Adults, Children Throughout World

According to Shirley Dippel of New Paltz, a participant in the International Book Project whose purpose is to send used books and magazines abroad, the major problems suffered by developing countries due to the lack of educational reading materials are "widespread illiteracy, poor health, and economic underdevelopment."

Books are urgently needed abroad by educated people, community leaders, and by students of all ages and interests. People can help themselves only when they have modern technical know-how. Members of the Book Project feel knowledge should be recycled.

Some countries are too poor to publish books because people are too poor to buy them. Consequently, children do not learn to read.

Poor health is often due to lack of knowledge. There are not enough medical schools, agricuturalists, nutritionists, veterinarians, and there is no chance of training them without books.

Economies are weak largely because local people are not trained in business and technical skills. For business development they must depend on Government officials and on people from other countries.

A current interest in this country is the sending of used, but still good, books to people in countries where books are needed. In some places books are so scarce and costly that a textbook may cost as much as the annual per capita income. Because of this millions of people never own a book. In America more printed pages are destroyed each year than are printed in any other country.

The International Book Project, Inc., a non-profit organization, is based at 17 Mentelle Park, Lexington, Kentucky. This agency tells interested persons where to send their no longer needed, but worthwhile books and technical journals. When the agency knows what is available it matches offers of everything from Mother Goose to medical and engineering Journals, and provides mailing instructions for families, schools, colleges and libraries. It encourages correspondence between people who send their books and people who receive them.

The person to person approach to international development is often more palatable than government help. Books sent in small packages by direct mail (eight pounds anywhere for a dollar) can be sent into remote areas and to small villages without red tape, and people make friends for themselves and the United States.

Donations to the Project are being sought. Contributions are tax deductible.

Court Santa Maria Names Chairman For Annual Christmas Dinner Party

At the November meeting of Court Santa Maria No. 164, Catholic Daughters of America, held in Knights of Columbus hall, Kingston, Alice Krom was named chairman of the annual Christmas dinner and party to be held at Holiday Inn on Thursday, Dec. 13 at 7 p.m. Miss Krom will be assisted by Dolores Grier and Mary DuBois, co-chairmen. Invitations are being mailed and reservations must be made with Jane Madden by December 5.

A thank you letter was read from United Way of Ulster County for the Court's recent donation. Members voted to donate the sum of $500 to the Memorial Fund at St. John's Church, West Hurley, in memory of the Rev. Msgr. Austin V. Carey, a former chaplain of the Court. The sum of $50 will be donated to Catholic Medical Missions and a contribution will be made for T.B. Christmas Seals.

Msgr. Mullins, chaplain, celebrated Mass prior to the business meeting. He spoke on November as the month of the Holy Souls and on preparation in Advent for Christmas. Catherine Haines, grand regent, presided at the meeting.

A business meeting will be held December 6.

Refreshments were served by Dolores Grier, assisted by Mary DuBois, Agnes Atkins, Emma Sangaline, Alice Krom, and Helen Van Steenburgh. A Thanksgiving motif was featured.

Headliners for Annual Ball

LISE STEEN

JOE MAURO

COMEDIAN Joe Mauro and vocalist Lise Steen will headline the Congregation Ahavath Israel Stage Show and Ball this Saturday at 100 Lucas Avenue. Both entertainers have appeared in various nightclubs and hotels throughout the country and are slated to appear at the Granit Hotel in the near future. After the entertainment, Howard Rust and his orchestra will play music for dancing until 1 a. m. Reservations for the gala may be made by contacting Dr. Murray Greene or Mrs. Ephraim Propp.

Speakers Announced for AAUW Meeting

Kingston Branch of American Association of University Women will meet Tuesday, Nov. 20, at the Bonanza Branch of Heritage Savings Banks, Ulster Avenue Mall, Kingston. "Energy Conservation" and "Ecology and Environment" will be discussed by representatives of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. Peter Burdash of Central Hudson will present a slide program on "Understanding the National Energy Dilemma." Roger Mabie, also of Central Hudson, will lead a discussion on "The Local Energy Outlook." Due to impending circumstances, it should prove to be an interesting evening. Antoinette Babb, president, will conduct the meeting.

An important upcoming event of Kingston AAUW is the joint endeavor with Junior League of Kingston in co-sponsoring the production of the "Nut Cracker Ballet" to be presented by the Poughkeepsie Ballet Theater and the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra. The ballet is scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at Community Theatre, Kingston. Public is invited.

Professor Margaret Casson, associate professor at State University College in New Paltz, spoke at a recent meeting. Her topic was "Open Education in England." Professor Casson's discussion along with her slide presentation dealing with children and their teachers in actual classroom situations proved to be an educational experience for all in attendance. Professor Casson is a supervisor of workshop programs in open education at New Paltz College. In the near future she plans to accompany a group of educators to England.

NATIONAL BOOK WEEK — Quite appropriately during National Book Week, Mrs. Al Bagatta, at right, presented the "AKC Complete Dog Book" to the Town of Ulster Library in memory of Grace St. John. Accepting the book for the library is Terry Oneto, member of the book committee and supervising the scene is the dog "Silver." To emphasize National Book Week, which concludes Sunday, the Ulster Library will observe a "forgiveness" program on all overdue books. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Doing the Right Thing

by ELIZABETH POST

(c) 1973 The Emily Post Institute, Inc.

Parties and entertaining mean different things to different people, and each hostess has her own special formula for success. In today's quiz I am passing on a number of "recipes" for outstanding parties, as described by some of our outstanding hostesses. All of these women have careers, and most of them families, so the time they can devote to their entertaining is limited. Their success proves that you and I, and anyone else who wants to, can be a better-than-average hostess, too. Take the quiz, and perhaps some of the questions and answers will suggest to you ways of improving your dinner parties.

1. Q. Can you have people of opposing views (political opponents, for example) at the same party?

A. Yes, if you known that they are both civilized people who will not take advantage of your hospitality to promote a confrontation. In fact, it makes for far more stimulating conversation when people with different viewpoints are brought together.

2. Q. Are there any rules about what foods may or may not be served at a more-or-less formal dinner?

A. Not really, except that it is not a good idea to select a food that is very difficult to eat (lobster, for example) when your guests will be wearing their best clothes. If you are doing the cooking yourself, choose dishes you know you do well — don't experiment. If you are having a caterer, choose the dishes with him, keeping in mind the preferences of your guests.

3. Q. What is the most essential quality (or qualities) of a good hostess?

A. 1. Relaxation. The nervous hostess who constantly worries over her guests makes them nervous, too.

2. Organization. The hostess who has everything so well planned and prepared in advance that she can devote almost all of her time to entertaining — and enjoying — her guests, is the successful hostess.

4. Q. Is there a "formula" for preparing your guest list?

A. To some extent, there is. Don't have all strangers, or all good friends. The ideal group is several couples who know and are comfortable with each other, and two or three strangers or rarely-seen acquaintances who have common interests and whose company the others would enjoy.

5. Q. Are parties more successful when you have a caterer or hired help?

A. not necessarily — it depends on the number of guests. I do not like to serve more than twelve without help, (although I like to cook for up to sixteen guests) because it takes too much time away from my guests, so I recommend getting a waitress who will also clean up if your party is larger than twelve.

7.90% effective annual yield on 7½% guaranteed per year for 4 to 7 years, (minimum deposit $1000)

Now, the highest rate allowed by law.

Confused by so many different rates? We don't blame you. Federal regulations regarding interest rates on term accounts have fluctuated widely in past months.

But now, an absolute maximum has been set on the rate savings banks may pay for deposits of $1000 to $100,000 committed to terms of 4 to 7 years. And Heritage pays that maximum.

Heritage also pays the highest interest rate allowed on deposits of $1000 to $100,000 committed to shorter lengths of term:

TERM	EFFECTIVE ANNUAL YIELD	GUARANTEED ANNUAL INTEREST
90 days-1 year	6%	5¾%
1-2½ years	6.81%	6½%
2½-4 years	7.08%	6¾%

If this still seems a bit confusing, just remember two things:

1. These are the highest rates allowed by law.
2. Some banks may pay less, but not Heritage. We pay you the highest rates allowed on all accounts, including term and passbook savings accounts.

Heritage Savings Bank—providing for your future.

Offer available for limited time only.

Federal law permits premature withdrawals on term accounts provided rate of interest on amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate (5¼%) and 90 days' interest is forfeited.

Difference Between Cuckold and Old Kook

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I write a syndicated newspaper column titled "Bernstein on Words." Recently I received the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Bernstein:

While celebrating my 45th wedding anniversary, I recalled that 40 years ago my wife had an affair with another man. My question: Was I, or am I a cuckold?"

Abby, all that came to my mind was that juvenile jingle, "How much wood would a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck could chuck wood," with a variation something like, "Just how old is an olden cluck when an olden cuckold's he?'

However, since this question seems much more up your alley than mine, how would you answer it?

TED BERNSTEIN:
CONSULTING EDITOR,
NEW YORK TIMES

DEAR TED: If the wife had only one affair — even briefly — her mate was a cuckold briefly. If she had another one, he's a cuckold for sure. if she's had them off and on over the years, he's not a cuckold — quite the reverse. He's an old kook!

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My problem is nothing new. It's my mother in law. My husband and I are the proud parents of a new baby, and I have returned to work part-time. Since we didn't know a reliable sitter, I asked my mother in law if she would babysit while I worked half days, and I offered to pay her. To my surprise, she accepted!

Abby, most grandmothers would be insulted if they were offered money to stay with their grandchildren. This is her first grandchild.

My husband and I have been fighting about this ever since it came up, and he says I am wrong — and if I don't feel right handing his mother money, I should just stick it in her purse and not make a big deal out of it.

Abby, do you think I'm wrong? I wonder just how many grandmothers accept money for taking care of their grandchildren?

WORKING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You failed to mention an important factor. How well off is your mother in law? If she must work in order to support herself, obviously she can't afford to sit graits. In any case, you'd have to pay another sitter, so why gripe?

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a chaser. I knew it when I married him, but nobody's perfect, and besides he has a lot going for him. For instance, he's a good provider and he's not stingy with his money. And he's also a wonderful father to our seven children, he's devout in his religion, and hasn't missed mass in 13 years, no matter how hung over he was.

His last fling was with a girl who used to call here and try to disguise her voice, but I always knew it was her. She'd say it was a "business call."

Once this girl called and talked to ME. She said she was in love with my husband and he was in love with her, and she asked me why I didn't give him up. I told her I'd give him up, but she'd have to take our seven kids, their ages are 2,3,5,7,8,10, and 12. She hung up. (I think she must have fainted.) That's the last time she called here.

Just thought this might be helpful to other wives with my kind of problem.

MARY SUNSHINE

DEAR MARY: Thanks, but it's risky to make an offer you'd never honor.

Woodstock Garden Club Meeting Held

Two new members were introduced and the new by-laws were approved at the November meeting of Woodstock Garden club. The meeting took place at Woodstock Reformed Church with Mrs. M. Leslie Denning, president, presiding.

Gwen Summers, substituting for Mrs. J. Albert Whittaker, membership chairman, introduced Mrs. H. H. Cutler and Mrs. Frank J. Coyle, new members, who were presented with corsages and the 1973 Yearbook. Mrs. Lamont Marvin, vice president, gave her report and opened the discussion of the new by-laws which were approved by members.

Other reports included Mrs. Otto E. Marquardt, secretary; Mrs. Lloyd Luders, publicity; Mrs. Clyde Deavers, mini flower show; M. Leslie Denning, conservation; Mrs. Ernest Lindroth, horticulture; Mrs. Denning for Mrs. Decker Bradshaw, Hubbard Award; Mrs. Marquardt, library book shelf; Mrs. Henry Rade for Mrs. Edna Vickers, library fair booth; Miss Therese W. Kessel, historian; Mrs. Lamont Marvin, library floral arrangements.

Mrs. Arch Brown, sunshine; Mrs. Clyde Deavers for Mrs. Bradshaw, graduating classes flowers; Mrs. Marvin, unsolicited awards; Mrs. Lindroth, village beautification; Mrs. Schuyler C. Schultz, therapy projects; Mrs. John E. Koerner, ways and means; Mrs. Michael Edwards, social.

The treasurer read the financial report for 1973 and the recording secretary, Mrs. Henry Rade, submitted her report. A letter was read from Mrs. S. Brainard West, a former club president, who has left the area. Slides of various 1973 events were shown.

Hostesses were Mrs. Walter Roevekamp, Mrs. Lindroth and Mrs. Craig R. Vosburgh. The floral arrangement was made by Mrs. Roevekamp.

'Over the Woods and Through the Trees to Grandmother's House We Go . . .'

By HELOISE CRUISE

This hint is strictly for grandmothers who expect their grandchildren for Thanksgiving dinner.

I have eight grandchildren and each one wants a drumstick. I know Grandma is supposed to be a magician, but up until now I haven't been able to buy an eight-legged turkey! I did, however, come up with a solution last Thanksgiving.

I bought eight small cornish hens and stuffed them. Each child had his own "baby" turkey and they were thrilled to death. It meant ordering a smaller turkey for the "big folks," but other than that, no problem.

I put the cornish hens in the oven after the turkey came out. I like to wait an hour or so for the juices to settle after I have cooked my turkey, so by this time the cornish hens were ready for the table.

The children were so thrilled with my idea that they have asked me to do the same thing this year, and grandma always comes through. . .

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Dear Heloise:

It's getting close to Thanksgiving, and (as urged by our church paper), every year I try to write two or three letters to people who have been a blessing to me and would otherwise go unthanked.

Mrs. G.S.

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Whenever you are measuring something sticky such as honey, molasses or corn syrup, just swirl some cooking oil in the cup or spoon before measuring and every last drop will come pouring out.

You won't waste a bit and there's no need to scrape the container.

Dottie Skeens

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever had only one load of washing and were in a hurry and couldn't wait around to dry "like" materials or "like" garments, say for three different time settings? Well, I do quite often.

I put all the clothes in the drier at one time and set my timer for ten minutes.

When the signal goes off, I take out my quick-drying shirts. Then I set it for ten more minutes, and take out things that require a little more drying; set is again for twenty minutes and finish drying the larger, heavier pieces.

Use a kitchen timer if your drier does not come equipped with one. Precious Time

Rozelle to Investigate Latest Drug Charge

NEW YORK (UPI) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle called for an investigation and George Allen denied the Washington Redskins have a drug problem Wednesday after the latest report of drug use in the National Football League was revealed.

George Burman, a former reserve center with the Washington Redskins, told the Washington Post that about one-third of the members on the team regularly used pep pills.

Allen quickly denied the Redskins have a drug problem but he didn't deny some players might be using amphetamines on their own. He rejected any suggestion that there was a problem with drug use or that it was condoned by the team.

"I know we do not have a drug problem on the Redskins," he said. "I am positive that we don't and I am not worried about it. I have never suggested or approved any improper or unlawful use of drugs. The last thing on my mind would be to advocate the use of drugs by any of my players."

Rozelle said he would launch an investigation into the charges but said he was encouraged by Burman's statement that the pills are not dispensed by the team's doctor or trainer anymore.

Rozelle said, "George Burman's comments confirm what our investigation has indicated —namely that amphetamines are not being dispensed either directly or indirectly by club management. It is obvious, however, if his statements regarding players are true that we are going to need the active cooperation of players themselves in eliminating outside sources.

Rozelle said he plans a discussion with Burman in an attempt to get the names of the players using drugs and said, "it's unfortunate that George has seen fit to label the players anonymously."

Burman said, "The league has gone 180 degrees on the subject," he said. "They used to provide stimulants through the club doctor and trainer. Now they will not be involved in any way in the use of stimulants. Amphetamines were available my first three years on the Rams but not my last two and not my three years with the Redskins," he said.

The NFL has hired a special medical consultant, Dr. Walter Riker of the Cornell University Medical College, who checks out the bills for drug purchases made by each team. Under its new drug guidelines, a club must send records of all prescription drug use on the team to the league office.

Burman estimated that about 13 Redskin players regularly use the pep pills and that he used them regularly from 1965 through last season.

"When I say 13, that's an estimate," he said. "I couldn't give you an accurate minimum other than myself as one. I don't know on a week-to-week basis. It's a private thing. Nobody goes out in the middle of the room and throws them up like circus peanuts and catches them and says 'there goes one down,'" he said.

Burman, who has a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago, said that as far as he is concerned, the use of amphetamines is "a personal matter."

"It's anybody's right as far as I am concerned," he said. "That doesnt mean Im going out and recommending them. I'm not. I don't know what effect they would have on anybody else, "he said.

Burman, who played 14 games with the Redskins last season, lost his second string center job to rookie Dan Ryczek this year but had remained with the team on the taxi squad.

Watson Hopes He Won't Blow This One

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI) — Tom Watson, young and winless in his second year on the PGA tour, admits that back in February when he held the Hawaiian Open lead he "choked and blew it."

Now, with nine months more experience under his belt but still winless, he's back out front again —this time by six strokes going into today's sixth round of the $500,000 World Open Golf Championship. And this time he plans for things to be different.

The 23-year-old pro's nine-under-par 62 Wednesday tied the course record set by Gibby Gilbert a week ago today in the opening round of the World and left Gilbert, in front of the field for four rounds, playing catch-up golf. Watson was at 347, eight under par, and Gilbert was second at 353, two under after a stumbling 73 Wednesday.

"I had a lead like this in Hawaii, but I choked and blew it," said Watson. "I hope I learned something from that and won't choke and blow it this time."

He led by four strokes after the second round in Hawaii, and by three strokes after the third round. But a fat 75 on the final day droped him to third place.

His best lesson, he said, was learning not to "try and rush things" when in the lead.

Watson toured the front nine with three birdies Wednesday, added another on No. 10, then faltered with a bogey on No. 13, a 374-yard, par four hole on Pinehurst Country Club's 7,007-yard No. 2 course.

Then came the 438-yard par four No. 14 hole. His drive landed, by his estimate, 148 yards from the hole. His second shot, with an eight iron, took a couple of hops and rolled into the cup for an eagle.

"From then on, I guess I played sort of in a daze," said Watson, who graduated two years ago with a psychology degree from Stanford. "After that I thought I could make anything."

He did, finishing with four straight birdies on putts of 10, one, 20 and 14 feet.

It was the best round Watson had ever played and the eagle was his first ever on a par four hole.

"I don't think you can explain a round like this," said the Kansas City, Mo., native. "You just get a feeling and everything starts going right ...

"I drove the ball fine all day. I had a lot of good iron shots and my putting was OK. I just had everything together."

While Watson had everything together, things came apart for Gilbert on the back nine. He had an eagle and a bogey on the front side and made the turn one-under.

Then came bogeys on 10, 12, 14 and 15 followed by a single birdie on No. 16. In all, he lost 11 strokes to the surging Watson in 13 holes.

"I think on the back side maybe I tried to force things too much," he said. "But I've still got a chance to win and haven't given up."

In at 356, one over par, after the fifth round were Miller Barber with a 67 Wednesday and Bobby Mitchell, who had a 69. Jerry Heard had a 70 and stood at 357.

Al Geiberger, who was tied for second with Watson after four rounds of the eight-round tourney, had a three-over-par 74 and fell into a sixth-place deadlock with Leonard Thompson, who had a 69 Wednesday, at 359.

Allen Miller, who had tied Gilbert for the third round lead, had a 74 to go into today's round with a 360 total, the same as Chi Chi Rodriguez, Hormero Blancas and Bob Dickson. Rodriguez moved up with a 68 Wednesday, while Blancas had a 70 and Dickson a 69.

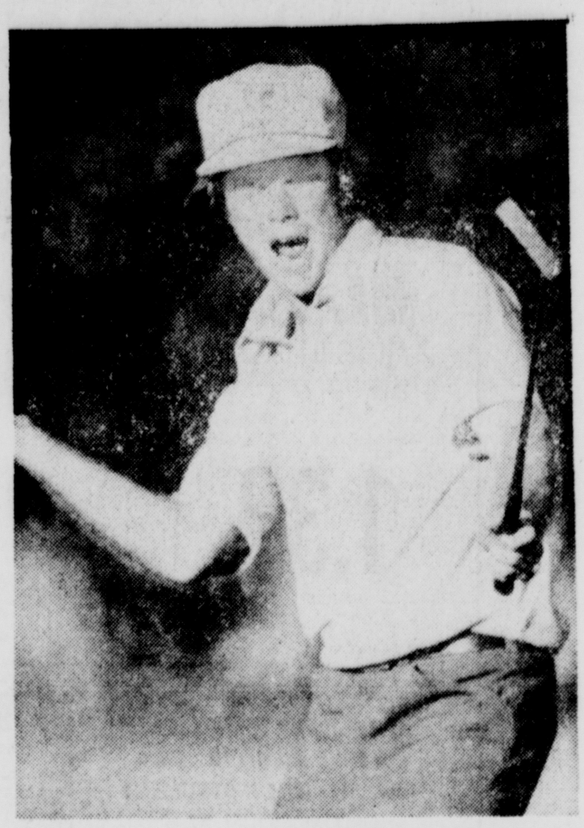

Watson's best finish in his short career came in the 1972 Quad Cities tournament, where he finished second.

HOORAY! — Tom Watson of Kansas City, Mo., lets out a yell as he watches his birdie putt on the 17th hole drop into the cup. Watson finished the day at nine-under-par 62 and tied the course record at Pinehurst, N. C., to take a six-stroke lead in the World Open tournament after five rounds. Watson has 347, eight under par. TANGLED UP — Doug Jarrett (4) of the Black Hawks gets all tangled up with legs belonging to Dale Rolfe of the Rangers as they both try to come up with loose puck in Wednesday night's game. In background is Walt Tkaczuk (18) of the Rangers. Game ended in a 4-4 tie. (UPI)

Lifts Rangers Into Tie

Shelly Picked Spot

NEW YORK (AP) — New York defenseman Sheldon Kannegiesser doesn't score often but he does pick his spots.

Kannegiesser whistled a 50-foot slap shot through a maze of players and past Chicago goalie Tony Esposito with just 2:47 left to play Wednesday night, lifting the Rangers into a 4-4 tie with the Black Hawks. It was Kannegiesser's first goal of the season and only the third of his National Hockey League career which dates back to 1970 when he was with Pittsburgh.

"I knew it was on the net but I didn't know it was going in," confessed the 26-year-old Kannegiesser. "There were a couple of guys in front of the goal and I guess Esposito must have been screened."

The slumping Rangers, who have won just two of their last 11 games, appeared headed for another loss after Bill Russell's goal at 2:03 of the third period put the Hawks on top 4-2. But Bruce MacGregor cut the Chicago lead in half just 3½ minutes later, scoring on a scramble in front of the Hawks' goal.

Kannegiesser was part of the scramble.

"Bruce and I swung at the puck at the same time and we both hit it," he explained, "but his stick was in front of mine."

No one is supposed to be happy with a tie but both clubs appeared pleased with this one. New York was satisfied to come from two goals back in the final period and Chicago was content to remain unbeaten on its current road trip.

"Chicago is the type of club that gets a goal ahead and then plays cautious," explained Larry Popein, the Rangers' beleagured rookie coach. "Theyr'e tough to catch. I have to be satisfied with a tie in a game like that.

"They're coming off two shutouts in a row. That tells you how well they've been playing."

Esposito, who has played all of Chicago's games this year, took a 1.64 goals-against average into the game. His shutout streak ended at 140 minutes, two seconds when Jean Ratelle scored for New York midway through the first period.

"Tony is playing especially well," said Chicago Coach Billy Reay. "I may play him all 78 games."

Reay, whose confrontations with the New York press are legendary, was in a surprisingly mild mood. "We've been on the road four games and we have two wins and two ties. I'm satisfied with that," he said. "At least we're playing over .500 now."

Veteran forward Jim Pappin was also philosophical.

"Well, half a loaf is better than none," he said. "Besides, as long as you stay close until after football season, you're alright."

Ratelle's goal was the only score of the first period. Chicago went on top with second-period goals from Chico Maki, Dick Redmond and Lynn Powis, while Walt Tkaczuk got the only Ranger score of the period.

Time is catching up with Montreal Coach Scotty Bowman. His Canadiens lost only four home games last season but with less than a quarter of the 1973-74 campaign gone, Montreal has already matched that total.

The Boston Bruins pinned Montreal with its third straight defeat 4-3 Wednesday night to widen their lead over the third place Canadiens to five points in the National Hockey League East.

Third period goals by Andre Savard and Ken Hodge broke a 2-2 tie and the Bruins held on for a one-goal victory after Guy Lefleur scored for Montreal.

Hodge, who scored the deciding goal at 10:10 of the final session, credited Fred O'Donnell with setting up the tally.

"Fred forced Pierre Bouchard to make a bad pass from behind the Montreal net. I got it on my stick and didn't even wait. I just took a shot and I know it caught (goalie) Wayne Thomas by surprise. Phil Esposito was calling for the puck but I shot instead of passing."

Boston Coach Bep Guidolin credited Gilles Gilbert's goal-tending with keying the Bruins' victory.

"Gilbert came to us in a good deal with Minnesota and it turned out to be a great trade. We were forced to give up a good player in Fred Stanfield."

Gilbert made 27 saves. Two of the Montreal's scores came on power play goals by Yvan Cournoyer and Frank Mahovlich. Wayne Cashman and Don Marcotte scored Boston's other two goals.

In other National Hockey League games, Buffalo defeated Atlanta 3-1, Detroit edged the New York Islanders 4-3, Minnesota rapped Vancouver 6-3, Toronto downed California 4-1 and Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 5-4.

Buffalo moved past Montreal into second place on goals by Larry Carrier, Doug Rombough and Don Luce as the Sabres string at seven. Jacques Richard scored the Flames' only goal.

A total of 124 minutes in penalties were assessed in the Islanders-Wings game, including game misconducts to Larry Johnson of Detroit and Bob Nystrom of New York for fighting. Henry Boucha's goal with 2:25 left was the winner for the Wings. Mickey Redmond scored twice for Detroit and Ralph Stewart had a pair for New York.

Barry Gibbs scored one goal and assisted on four others against Vancouver to set a Minnesota club record for points in a game by a defenseman. Danny Grant and Bill Goldsworthy each scored twice for the North Stars.

Paul Henderson scored two goals in Toronto's victory over California and Philadelphia moved four points ahead of Atlanta in the NHL West as Bobby Clarke scored twice and defenseman Tom Bladon added the winning goal early in the third period. The victory was Philadelphia's first in seven games with the Kings.

Celts Frustrate Old Pal Russell

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bill Russell returned to Boston and it was an emotional experience — only the emotion was frustration, not joy.

The longtime Celtic star, now the coach of the Seattle SuperSonics, wasn't sentimental — only professional — after losing a 110-104 National Basketball Association decision to Boston Wednesday night.

"I didn't have any funny feeling coming back to Boston," said Russell about facing his former team. "I didn't find myself identifying with the team in green.

"When you're 5-13, you don't have time to think about anything except how to turn the team around."

In the other NBA games Wednesday night, the Portland Trail Blazers tripped the Detroit Pistons 111-108 and the Kansas City-Omaha Kings downed the Houston Rockets 118-116 in overtime.

Boston's sluggish offense was revived by the rebounding of Paul Silas and Dave Cowens as the Celtics erased an 83-80 deficit with a 14-2 spurt in the fourth quarter.

Silas and Cowens cleared the boards and Silas and John Havlicek scored the points—four each—in the stretch that powered Boston into a 94-85 lead in four minutes.

Jo Jo White had 28 points and Havlicek flipped in 24 as the Celtics won their seventh straight game. Spencer Haywood's 22 points led Seattle as the SuperSonics lost their fourth straight.

"We lost to a very good team," said Russell. "We lost our poise in the fourth period and I should have called time out when they were running off all those points."

Trail Blazers 111, Pistons 108

Clutch shooting by Jeff Petrie in the final three minutes helped Portland beat Detroit 111-108. Petrie connected for Portland's final four baskets, including the winning shot with 38 seconds remaining.

Petrie's marksmanship shut the door on the Pistons, who had rallied from an 11-point deficit behind Bob Lanier. The Piston center scored 41 points, 20 in the last period.

Kings 118, Rockets 116

Jimmy Walker scored 31 points, four in overtime, to lead Kansas City-Omaha to a 118-116 decision over Houston. The Rockets' Don Smith missed two free throws with 29 seconds left, but made the penalty shot to tie the score at 106 and send the game into overtime.

George Gervin has found his confidence but his coach is still looking.

Gervin scored 39 points in leading Virginia to a 113-108 American Basketball Association victory over Memphis Wednesday night.

"It was my best shooting night ever," said Gervin. "I have a lot more confidence in my game now."

Virginia Coach Al Bianchi, who watched his club hit 60 per cent from the field but still need Larry Miller's crucial four foul shots in the last 80 seconds to beat the Tams, felt the Squires played well.

Elsewhere in the ABA, Carolina downed Kentucky 107-102 and Utah beat San Diego 129119.

"Earlier in the season, I was hesitating before I would take a shot or make a pass," said Gervin, who hit 16 of his 21 shots. "That hesitation usually made me make a mistake, but now I'm reacting a lot better and playing my natural game."

Bullets Waive Rich Rinaldi

HYDE PARK

Former Roosevelt High School and St. Peter's University basketball star Rich Rinaldi was placed on waivers by the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association.

Rinaldi had been a reserve through two seasons of a no-cut contract. This was his third year with the club.

The Bullets activated guard Archie Clark and forward Tom Patterson, both recovering from injuries. Clark, the Bullets' backcourt ace for the past two seasons, has been recovering from a shoulder separation. Patterson sprained an ankle early in the season and has seen only five minutes of action all year.

Stadium Cost Rises Again

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York City officials revealed Wednesday that the price tag for the Yankee Stadium renovation project has risen another $10 million, bringing the total tab to just under $50 million and more than double the original estimate.

The disclosure came during a City Planning Commission hearing on a $15.9 million budget allocation for the project during which Commission Chairman John F. Zuccotti said that the added $10 million was tucked away in next year's draft capital budget.

Budget Director David A. Grossman said later that the $10 million was "primarily for the environs of the stadium" — street improvements, lighting landscaping and the like.

The original estimate for the stadium project, which is planned for completion in 1976, was $24 million, for land acquisition and refurbishing. At that time, however, Comptroller —now Mayor-elect Beame said the total cost would actually be about $53 million.

The renovation process for the 50-year-old stadium has already begun with the gutting of the stadium. Lindsay last April said that by the time he leaves office, the project will be "so far down the road it will be impossible to reverse it."

And Grossman admitted Wednesday that "if costs go up then obviously we may have to be asking for more."

The Yankees, in the meantime, will play their home games at Shea Staeium, home of the New York Mets.

Hutch Award to John Hiller

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — The 1973 Hutch Award, which annually goes to the major league baseball player who best exemplifies the competitive instinct and character of former pitcher and Cincinnati Reds manager Fred Hutchinson, has been presented to pitcher John Hiller of the Detroit Tigers.

Hiller, 30, who suffered a serious heart attack in 1971 but returned to break the major league record for saves last season, received the highest winning margin of votes in the nine-year history of the award.

The selection was made by major league baseball writers and broadcasters on behalf of the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Scholarship Fund, Inc., sponsor of the award. Hutchinson was manager of the Reds when he died of cancer in 1964.

Danny Thompson of the Minnesota Twins, who has leukemia, finished second in the balloting, followed by Johnny Bench of Cincinnati, who had a benign tumor removed from his lung prior to the start of the 1973 season.

From his home in Duluth, Minn., Hiller said he was honored to receive the award.

"I know of the great esteem baseball people have for Fred Hutchinson," said Hiller.

Hiller posted 38 saves, cracking the record held by Clay Carroll of the Reds, on his way to a 10-5 record and a 1.94 earned run average last season.

"Having the kind of season I did was a great satisfaction," Hiller said. "I'm pleased that people so close to the game as the broadcasters and writers selected me."

Hiller will be recognized at the Chicago Baseball Writers dinner Jan. 26 and the Dapper Dan sports dinner in Pittsburgh Feb. 3.

Designated Runner?

CLEVELAND (AP) — During a secret meeting in Chicago Tuesday the American League voted to implement a "designated-runner" rule during the 1974 baseball season, according to the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Plain Dealer said American League owners voted 7-5 to put the new rule into effect.

Charles O. Finley, owner of the World Champion Oakland A's, made the proposal and it was approved by the Cleveland Indians, New York Yankees, Kansas City Royals, Minnesota Twins, Milwaukee Brewers andd Texas Rangers.

Finley's proposal was opposed by the Baltimore Orioles, Detroit Tigers, Boston Red Sox, California Angels and Chicago White Sox.

The "designated-runner" rule would be similar to the American League's "designated-hitter" rule.

Blair Heads Sporting News Fielding Team

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Baltimore outfielder Paul Blair, who has made just 10 errors in 429 games spanning the last three seasons, was the only unanimous choice in selecting the Sporting News' All-Star fielding teams.

The veteran Oriole outfielder was named to the American League fielding team for the sixth time in the past seven seasons in the annual poll of managers and coaches.

The Eastern Dvision champion Orioles dominate the 1973 fielding award list in the American League, with the complete squad as follows: George Scott, Milwaukee, first base; Bobby Grich, Baltimore, second base; Brooks Robinson, Baltimore, third base; Mark Belanger, Baltimore, shortstop; Blair, outfield; Amos Otis, Kansas City, outfield; Mickey Stanley, Detroit, outfield; Thurman Munson, New York, catcher; and Jim Kaat, Chicago, pitcher.

The National League defensive lineup is: Mike Jorgensen, Montreal, first base; Joe Morgan, Cincinnati, second base; Doug Rader, Houston, third base; Roger Metzger, Houston, shortstop; Cesar Cedeno, Houston, outfield; Bobby Bonds, San Francisco, outfield; Willie Davis, Los Angeles, outfield; Johnny Bench, Cincinnati, catcher; and Bob Gibson, St. Louis, pitcher.

Girls Softball Is Expanding

SCRANTON, Pa. (UPI) — Marcus D'Amico, founder of the Miss-E League, a girls' softball league, 13 years ago, said today the program was ready to go nationwide.

D'Amico said he plans a Miss-E League World Series by 1976 in this city where the league was founded.

He said the league started with two teams in its initial season and presently has more than 3,000 girls competing in a 9-14 junior league and more than 500 in a 15-18 senior league. There are about 36 teams in the program.

D'Amico said he is seeking applications from organizations nationwide who are interested in forming girls' softball leagues.

Klein Honored

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tight end Bob Klein of the Los Angeles Rams was named Tuesday as the 1973 recipient of the Hospital Charity Fund's Red Rose Award for his work with local youth groups.

Klein was selected "for exemplary conduct as a citizen, husband, father and NFL image builder" in addition to "noteworthy contributions to Southern California youth groups."

The award is to be presented prior to the Rams game against the San Francisco 49ers this Sunday at Memorial Coliseum.

College Leaders Just Might Be 'Looking Ahead'

By United Press International

The only thing that might prevent the nation's top ranked college football teams from adding to their victory totals this week is the chance that some might be "looking ahead" to next week.

All of the top 10 ranked teams who are in action Saturday should have an easy time of things, unless they get overconfident and start thinking about their showdown battles a week hence.

Ohio State, for example, entertains winless Iowa Saturday at Columbus, Ohio, and the only way the Hawkeyes can stay within a mile of the Buckeyes is for the Ohio State players to have their minds concentrating more on their meeting with Michigan Nov. 24. Otherwise, the game has all the makings of being one of the biggest routs of the season.

Second-ranked Alabama, third-ranked Oklahoma, fourth-ranked Michigan, sixth-ranked Penn State, seventh-ranked LSU, eighth-ranked UCLA, ninth-ranked Southern California and 10th-ranked Nebraska all are faced with keeping their minds on Saturday's game rather than next week's encounters.

Alabama, which plays LSU on Thanksgiving Day, faces Miami (Fla.) Saturday; Oklahoma, which will meet Nebraska on Nov. 23, plays Kansas; Michigan goes against Purdue; Penn State, awaiting a Nov. 24 meeting with Pittsburgh, hosts Ohio U.; UCLA, priming for its Nov. 24 meeting with Southern Cal, hosts Oregon State and Southern California visits Washington.

It is unlikely that any of the top 10 teams will get beat Saturday, and in fact our regional predictors don't envision any opponent from coming closer than 10 points.

Our regional predictors are Fred McMane of New York (East), David Moffit of Atlanta (South), Ed Sainsbury of Chicago (Midwest), Charlie Smith of Kansas City (Midlands), Mike Rabun of Dallas (Southwest), Tracy Ringolsby of Denver (Rockies) and Joe Sargis of San Francisco (Far West).

The East

Penn St. 42 Ohio U. 6 — Nittany Lions have too many ground forces for Bobcats to combat.

Pittsburgh 33 Army 7 — Tony Dorsett should have a field day against hapless Cadets.

Boston College 31 Syracuse 10 — Eagles still have an outside shot at a bowl invite.

West Virginia 22 Virginia 12 — Mountaineers need victory to salvage a .500 season.

Also: Penn 20 over Columbia, Colgate 14 over Boston U., Cornell 7 over Dartmouth, Harvard 10 over Brown, Yale 14 over Princeton, Rutgers 6 over Holy Cross.

The South

Alabama 38 Miami (Fla.) 7 — Crimson Tide still hoping Ohio State will stumble out of that No. 1 spot.

LSU 24 Mississippi St. 14 — Bengals anxiously awaiting Thanksgiving night meeting with Alabama.

Kentucky 21 Florida 17 — Sophomore Sonny Collins shows why he is South's leading runner.

Tennessee 28 Ole Miss 17 — Volunteers looking for a Gator Bowl bid.

Also: Georgia 3 over Auburn, Tulane 10 over Vanderbilt, Clemson 3 over Mayland, North Carolina St. 17 over Duke, North Carolina 6 over Wake Forest, West Virginia 6 over Virginia, Richmond 7 over William & Mary, South Carolina 10 over Florida St., Georgia Tech 7 over Navy..

The Midwest

Michigan State 17 Indiana 7 —Spartans coming.

Michigan 35 Purdue 7 — Boilermakers may not score.

Ohio State 52 Iowa 0 — Another ho-hummer for the Buckeyes.

● Northwestern 21 Wisconsin 17 —Wildcats squeak by again.

Minnesota 14 Illinois 13 — Upchurch the difference for Gophers.

Also: Bowling Green 7 over Northern Illinois; Dayton 3 over Marshall; Miami, O. 13 over Cincinnati; Toledo 6 over Kent State; Villanova 7 over Xavier.

The Midlands

Oklahoma 38 Kansas 17 — Jayhawks may stay with the Sooners for a while.

Colorado 16 Oklahoma St. 13 —The two hardest teams to pick in the Big Eight, but the Buffs are double-tough in Boulder.

Missouri 16 Iowa St. 14 — Could be an upset in the making, but character will pull Tigers through.

Nebraska 37 Kansas St. 7— Might have been a good contest earlier, but not now.

The Southwest

Texas 35 TCU 7 — Longhorns wrap up sixth straight Cotton Bowl trip.

Texas Tech 19 Baylor 14 — Bears might give Raiders a few problems they had not expected.

Texas A&M 36 Rice 12 — Aggies have Bowl hopes and an improving team as well.

Tulsa 17 North Texas St. 14 — Missouri Valley Conference championship is on the line on this one, and experience will probably tell.

Also: SMU 3 over Arkansas, Southern Mississipi 10 over West Texas St.

The Rockies

Arizona St. 62 Texas-El Paso 9 —ASU could score more points if coach Frank Kush is in a bad mood.

Arizona 24 Air Force 13 — Wildcats go after school single-season victory record.

Wyoming 21 New Mexico 20 —The Cowboys can have a winning season if they get past New Mexico and Houston.

The Far West

UCLA 35 Oregon St. 7 —Bruin ground game rolls on.

USC 28 Washington 7 — Trojans point for UCLA encounter next week.

Stanford 17 Oregon 10 — Cardinals bounce back after heartbreaker.

Washington St. 21 California 14 —Cougars finally get going.

Ski Operators Waiting for the Snows

ALBANY — Catskill Mountain ski operators have spent close to $700,000 on refurbishing their equipment and trails to provide better skiing this winter, the New York State Department of Commerce has announced.

Straddling the New York State and Massachusetts border, Catamount is under new managers who have arranged some pleasant surprises for returning skiers.

The new owners hold the Tucker Sno-Cat Distributorship for the Eastern United States, and have equipped the slopes with additional snowmaking equipment — which they manufacture. A refurbished lodge, a new bar, and more efficient cafeteria facilities await this year's skier.

The new base manager, John King, recently with Sugarbush and formerly manager of Whiteface Mountain, says their target date for opening operation is Dec. 1. Regular NASTAR races as well as ski club races are planned.

Thanksgiving will mark the "official" start of the ski season at Hunter, although the center has been open for limited skiing since last Saturday.

Early season skiing tailor-made for every ability may be found at Hunter Mountain, with areas for novice, intermediate and advanced, and expert skiers. A 20 per cent increase in snow production will cover newly-widened and groomed slopes.

For the fourth consecutive year, the Benson & Hedges Pro Ski Cassic will be held on Hunter's slopes, Jan. 26-27. A friendly ski town, Hunter offers a wide variety of "apres-ski" entertainment, as well as abundant lodging, including Hunter Highlands, condominiums built on the edge of Hunter 1 as well as the Slutzky brothers' own housing project.

Situated east of the Hudson at Wappingers Falls, Parker's Outdoor World features two well-groomed slopes ideal for the novice or beginning skier. Well-equipped with snowmakers and a snowcat for grooming, Parker's Ski Center School offers GLM and the American Technique instruction. Planned as a four-season resort, Parkers' wintertime activities also include cross-country skiing, snowmobiling, toboganing, ice skating, and horseback riding.

Less than an hour from New York City, Dutchess Ski Area at Beacon keeps its well-lit slopes open six nights a week. Extensive changes for improved snowmaking are ready for this season as well as three double chair lifts to get you to the top, under the direction of David Watson, new president of this ski center.

Dubbed as "the friendly one," Mount Peter, west of Greenwood Lake, plans to begin operations around Thanksgiving. This ski center caters to beginner and intermediate skiers and offers American Technique instruction. They have instituted their own racing program and added a new chair lift this year to help skiers gain more slope time.

Three miles from Monticello, Holiday Mountain has prepared for this season with a new snowmaking system which promises better than ever skiing on their ten slopes. Holiday is introducing a NASTAR program this year which will augment their large and enthusiastic junior racing program that boasts 500 active members. Instruction in American Technique and GLM is offered up to the intermediate level.

Big Vanilla at Davos is an all-inclusive resort with built-in entertainment, lodging, and a wooded housing community. Big Vanilla places its emphasis on a friendly atmosphere fostered by mighty Glu Wein, fondue, or cocktail parties. New snowmaking equipment has been installed to improve coverage on their nineteen trails and slopes. Skiing for all levels may be found here, as well as well-established GLM program complete with a "double-guaranteed" ski week package.

Ski Minnewaska, ten miles west of New Paltz, is just down the road from Lake Minnewaska, a private resort estate of 3,500 acres surrounded by 14,000 acres of land "forever wild."

An ideal family ski area, Minnewaska's many other winter attractions include 50 miles of ski touring trails and snow-shoeing, horse-drawn sleigh rides, skijoring (a European import with the skier pulled by a horse), sledding or tobogganing, horseback riding, ice skating and a separate area for snowmobiling. Renovated snowmaking equipment adds to skiing enjoyment at an area merciful to the beginner, and challenging for the intermediate, with enough moguls, jumps and banked turns to satisfy the advanced skier.

State-operated Belleayre Mountain has been occupied this summer with grooming their nineteen trails and four slopes. With an impressive vertical drop of 1,265 feet, Belleayre is a poular ski center which has added to skiers' enjoyment and safety by dividing its upper and lower levels into advanced and intermediate, and beginner areas. Offering both American Technique and GLM, Belleayre also has Beat-the-Pro races for an additional challenge for competitive skiers.

Season preparations at Scotch Valley, between Oneonta and Kingston, include reconstruction and widening of trails and additional snowmaking equipment for the two main slopes. Nine miles of slopes and trails with courses to test the expert or please the novice are serviced by three double chair lifts. Comfortable facilities await skiers who want to warm up in their large cafeteria, bar and cocktail lounge, and even a 10-lane bowling alley for non-skiing friends. Special holiday weekend events include ski-jump exhibitions off their 40 meter ski jump by day and torchlight parades by night.

Skiers interested in a list of all the ski areas in the state and data on facilities offered at each, may obtain a free copy of "Ski New York," by writing the New York State Department of Commerce, 99 Washington Avenue, Albany, N.Y. 12210.

PRETTY KAREN — Canada's Karen Magnussen, former world champion and silver medal winner in the Olympics made her first Canadian professional appearance during opening night of the Ice Capades in Toronto, Canada, this week. Next week she and the ice show move on to Monteral. (UPI)

Six Returning Veterans Boost Volleyball Hopes

KINGSTON — Coach Pat Burke of the Kingston High School girls volleyball varsity is counting on six senior returnees to vastly improve on the Maroons' 2-10 record of a season ago in the Dutchess County Scholastic League.

The seniors are Cindy Vogt, Cindy Lowe, Debbie Helzer, Pam Thomas, Barbara Henry, Sue Lumisch and Cathy Fitzgerald. Additional help is also expected from new members of varsity like Caroline Anhele, Camille D'Aprile, Teresa Gorman, Judy Olsen, Barbara Myers, Diane Ramus and Sharon Phillips.

Jayvee coach Judith Anderson has announced the roster for her team — Diana Baker, Marguerite D'Aprile, Joan Driggs, Renata Harris, Cathy Hoyt, Karin Krajick, Penny Lowry, Sandy Mancuso, Diane Piper, Jodi Simmons, Dianna Swedman, Lynn Sorensen, Kathleen Vogt.

The varsity's seven playing dates in the regular season include five triangular matches. Home games will be played at 4 p.m. at the Kate Walton field house.

The schedule:

Nov. 19 — Lourdes, away.

Dec. 6 — Poughkeepsie-Spackenkill, home; Dec. 12 — Roosevelt, away; Dec. 14 — Ketcham-Haldane at Ketcham; Dec. 18 — Pawling-Beacon at Beacon.

Jan. 3 — Saugerties-Mount St. Mary, home; Jan. 7 — John Jay-Arlington, home; Jan. 12-19 — Sectionals.

Cordero Ties for Second In Region XV Scoring

STONE RIDGE — Byron Cordero, Ulster County Community College's All-America candidate, shared a three-way tie with 14 goals in the individual scoring race in Region XV soccer. The leader was Luis Portugal of Staten Island, one of the two teams to beat UCCC this season.

Sharing the tie with Cordero were Tony Mercuri and Patrick Anderson of Westchester. Anderson and Mercuri shared the assist lead with 14 each.

March Charpentier of Ulster had most goalie saves with 90 and was tied with George Lezaca of Queensborough for yielding fewest goals—10.

Imperati Hits 278

KINGSTON — Andy Imperati knocked off his second big game of the season — 278 in the Ferraro 3-Man Classic — and posted an 848 foursome with other games of 178, 197 and 195.

The 278 is the second highest single of the 1973-74 season reported to The Daily Freeman. Previously, Imperati was credited with a 267, which is tied for sixth place in the Top Ten singles. The current singles leader is Lou Petramale with 288.

Jack Ferraro was runnerup in the 3-Man Classic with 844, off lines of 213, 214, 204, 213. Ben Sanford decked 223, 248-834; Mike Cashara 232-796, Pudgy Dunn 223-783.

Imperati's 278 helped Imp's Roofing and Siding to team highs of 634 and 2370.

James Lichtenberg, a 15-year-old Junior Boy bowler with the IBM Apollo Junior II squad, decked a career-first 658 triple with games of 229, 233 and 196.

On Oct. 27, Jim rolled a 179 triplicate. The 658 is the highest for both junior and senior boys in the 1973-74 season.

Schuler Top KHS Carrier

KINGSTON — That Kingston High School picked up most of its yardage on the ground this season is reflected in official football statistics compiled by team statisticians.

KHS pass receivers were called upon to catch only 17 passes, seven by lanky end John Dawson, who accumulated 221 of the Maroons' yardage total.

Lyle Schuler was the rushing leader with 500 yards in 139 carries, an average of 3.6 yards per carry. He was followed by Steve Engelhardt with 244 yards in 60 carries, and Dan Mahoney with 117 yards in 28 carries.

Schuler was scoring leader as well with 48 points.

Giveaway at Monticello

MONTICELLO — Monticello Raceway inaugurates its first Win-A-Fiat drawing for its patrons, beginning Saturday afternoon, Nov. 17.

The grand prize will be a beautiful new 1974 Fiat 128, complete with all model equipment. A model of the car has been on display at the raceway the past two weeks.

Entry blanks for the first drawing, which will take place following the last race on Saturday afternoon's program, will be given out starting tonight, Nov. 15.

Plans are set to give away a Fiat every Saturday afternoon through Dec. 8, 1973.

Margaret Blasts Billie

MELBOURNE (AP) — Australian tennis star Margaret Court blasted verbal volleys Wednesday at two of her rivals—Americans Billie Jean King and Bobby Riggs.

"I believe Billie Jean is dodging me—and I'm trying to escape Bobby," said Mrs. Court from her home in Perth.

"And I'm not interested in taking on Riggs again—the taxman would be the only winner."

Mrs. Court has met Mrs. King four times in recent months. "I won three of them and in the other I had three match points," said Mrs. Court, who has won $205,000 this year.

"The fact that I have won this much puts me off taking on Riggs again.

"His manager has offered me $50,000 win-or-lose to take on Riggs in Australia. I'm just not interested."

Mrs. Court lost to Riggs in straight sets last Mother's Day.

In Final Soccer Poll

Ulster Rated Fourth

Ulster County Community College's soccer varsity, which completed its season with a 13-2 record, tumbled to fourth place in the final 1973 National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) coaches soccer poll. The Senators were rated No. 1 for three consecutive weeks leading up to the last poll.

The Senators won 12 straight games from the opening of the season, then lost to Staten Island in regular play and Queensborough in the first round of the Region XV tournament. Queens eventually won the title.

Order of finish in the last poll:

1. Meramec, St. Louis, 14-1-1;
2. Meercer County, N.J., 15-1;
3. Essex CC, Baltimore, 13-0-1;
4. Ulster Coun[illegible] Miami-Dade, North Miami, Fla. 11-1.
6. Berkshire CC, Pittsfield, Mass., 13-1-1; 7. Monroe CC, Rochester, N.Y., 10-1-1; 8. Bethany Lutheran College, Mankato, Minn., 12-0; 9. Springfield Tech, Springfield, Mass., 10-0-1; 10. SUNY at Morrisville, N.Y., 10-2-1.

Iowa Central Community College of Fort Dodge, Iowa, was voted the No. 1 junior college football team in the nation. The team had a perfect 9-0 record and received 16 first place votes.

Mesa CC of Mesa, Arizona, with a 8-0 mark, was runnerup, followed by Fort Scott JC, Fort Scott, Kansas, with a 9-0 record.

Overtime Win For Pier Point

KINGSTON — West Pier Point outscored Uhl's Construction in overtime, 13-5, to win a free wheeling YMCA "B" basketball league game, 91-83. The regulation contest ended 78-78.

Ted Van Dyke led Pier Point with 30 points and Quincy Bowens added 28. Juice Barnes of Uhl's took game honors with 33 points and Dennis Klonowski hit 21. Van Dyke collected seven of his points in overtime.

In other games, Watzka's rallied with 26 points in the foruth quarter to edge Wenzel's Amusement, 72-67, and Corner Rest held off Stewart's Ice Cream, 54-49.

Greg Mackey dunked 23 points and Barry Motzkin 20 for Watzka's. John Robinson led Wenzel's with 27 and Fran Prendergast added 16.

Harry Brink led Corner Rest with 16 points. Mike Kiernan paced Stewart's with 18.

The results:

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN GAS RATE SCHEDULE

On October 12, 1973 Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York revisions to gas rate schedule, P.S.C. No. 11—Gas, to become effective November 29, 1973. Said revisions propose a change in the Gas Cost Adjustment Clause whereby (a) rates stated in Service Classification Nos. 3, 4 and 5 would be subject to increase or decrease at the rate of 0.0109 rather than the present rate of 0.0108 cents per 100 cubic feet for each change of 0.01 cent per 100 cubic feet from a base commodity cost of gas of 3.016 cents per 100 cubic feet and (b) rates stated in Service Classification Nos. 1 and 2 would be subject to increase or decrease at the rate of 0.0109 rather than the present rate of 0.0108 cents per 100 cubic feet from a base cost of gas of 6.178 cents per 100 cubic feet computed after excluding volumes and costs of gas purchased for sale under Service Classification Nos. 3, 4 and 5 and purchased for electric generating fuel.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

YES OR NO? (Q.) Is a 16-year-old guy too old for a 13-year-old girl? He says he loves me I don't know about myself. It seems that he is about as interested in sex with me as in love.

How can I convince him that sex isn't the only thing. By the way, could you list the things you think love for a boy and girl our age is all about?—Not Yet in North Carolina.

(A.) Because of the newsprint shortage, I've had to condense Teen Forum 25 per cent, so I don't have space to list all about love. One thing I can say: It's not all about sexual involvement at 13.

Tell your friend if he must have sex he must go elsewhere.

LATE THOUGHTS: (Q.) When I lie in bed trying to fall asleep I sometimes think of evil things, like what would I do if my father died. It makes me feel awful.—Afraid in Indiana.

(A.) In half-sleep or sleep dreams may flit through our minds. We cannot control these. But when we are still awake we can control our thoughts, and should not let them wander into darkness.

We can think about pleasant things rather than unpleasant ones, good things instead of bad. We can also pray during that time, for ourselves and for the ones we love.

In doing so we are being positive, not negative.

(Jean Adams reads and consigers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions or comments to Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Back in the '30s cartoonist H. T. Webster used to draw a daily comic panel. Upon occasion he drew some about bridge. One showed a teepee. The voice coming from inside said, "Ugh! Lone Elk bid one more psychic, I scalp him."

North, a well known psychic bidder had promised his teammates he would not open psychics but the temptation of this hand was too much for him. The words: "One notrump" came out of his mouth. East's two spades; South's four hearts and West's double followed naturally as did a seven trick set and a near stroke of apoplexy by South.

North pointed out that South was only down 1300 and that East and West could bid six notrump and score 1440 but South was not mollified.

Neither were their East-West teammates. The hand occurred in an important team match and six spades became the contract at the other table. South led the ace of hearts and gave his partner a ruff to set the slam and win the match for his team.

His teammates couldn't scalp North. Tht just isn't done in the American Contract Bridge League but they did the next worst thing. They never let him play with them again.

Ford Hearings Shift to House of Representatives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional hearings on the confirmation of Gerald R. Ford as vice president shifted today from the Senate to the House, where Ford has been a member for 25 years and serves as Republican leader.

In part because of Ford's long association with the House, it has conducted an exhaustive investigation of him to avoid any appearance of favoritism.

There are no indications, however, that the investigation has revealed anything not brought out in the Senate hearings, which gave Ford little difficulty.

Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, which is conducting the hearings, said the investigation has raised a few questions that Ford will have to answer.

But other Judiciary Committee members who have examined the FBI files and other investigative reports said they had seen nothing that would give Ford any trouble.

Some of the Democratic members said they intended to use the hearings to examine Ford's political philosophy and get him on record on issues likely to arise between Congress and the administration.

The committee is conducting another investigation to determine whether grounds exist for the impeachment of President Nixon. The probe has led members of both houses to urge that the confirmation hearings be conducted with the possibility in mind that Ford may become president.

This is the first time a vacancy in the vice presidency has been filled under the procedures of the 25th Amendment, which requires confirmation by both houses. The vacancy was created Oct. 10 when Spiro T. Agnew resigned.

The Senate Rules Committee completed its fourth day of public hearings Wednesday and has no more scheduled.

Rodino has schduled five days of hearings, winding up next Wednesday. He has not announced any other witnesses besides Ford.

There has been only scattered opposition to Ford's confirmation, some of it appearing at Wednesday's Senate hearing. Joseph Rauh, vice chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, urged rejection of the nomination.

Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., said Ford's confirmation should be delayed until it is known whether Nixon will resign or be impeached, in which case Congress should then pass legislation for a special election.

Cox Not Seeking Former Job, Despite Favorable Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Archibald Cox says he won't try to get back his job as Watergate special prosecutor even though a court has ruled he was fired illegally at President Nixon's direction.

"For me to make any legal claims under (the decision) would only divert attention from getting the job done," Cox said in a terse statement shortly after the ruling Wednesday.

The action by U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard A. Gesell prompted new impeachment demands from two of the three Democratic congressmen who had sought the ruling.

The decision also made clear it was intended to protect the independence of Cox's successor, Leon Jaworski, and discourage legislation to create a new, court-appointed prosecutor.

The White House declined to comment on the ruling, referring requests to the Justice Department where acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork said he had not yet decided whether to appeal.

It was Bork who fired Cox after Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson and deputy Atty. Gen. William S. Ruckelshaus refused to carry out Nixon's directive and resigned. Bork, as solicitor general, was third in command at the time.

Bork was said to be upset by the judicial slap but uncertain about the wisdom of appealing an order that had no actual impact.

Gesell declared that Cox's firing was illegal but stopped short of ordering him reinstated or any other action taken.

Bork, meanwhile, testified Wednesday that Jaworski is going ahead with all the investigations Cox had under way. He also told the Senate Judiciary Committee he had not been anxious to fire Cox, but carried out the President's directive because he thought it was the proper thing to do. The committee is investigating Cox's dismissal.

Political Money Tree . . . An Inside Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — A parade of senior officials from some of the nation's richest corporations is giving the Senate Watergate committee an insider's look at the political money tree they helped build for President Nixon's 1972 campaign.

Wednesday, officials of the Gulf Oil Co., and the Ashland Oil Co. said political pressures were primarily responsible for their decision to raise $100,000 each from corporate sources overseas and to deliver it in cash to the President's leading fundraisers.

Last July, Watergate witness George A. Spater, board chairman of American Airlines, opened a floodgate of disclosures from other firms by telling the office of the Watergate special prosecutor that some of the $75,000 the firm had donated had come from corporate funds "in possible violation of the campaign financing laws."

Last September, the finance committee said it had set aside $40,000 donated by Braniff pending a decision on whether the money had been given legally.

At that time, Braniff said the money had come from corporate funds but had been repaid to the company by those listed as donors.

When he opened the rush of voluntary disclosures last July, American's board chairman Spater offered a detailed criticism of the way American presidential elections are paid for.

"Based on my knowledge and experience, I believe such pressures have been regularly applied by campaign solicitors and that contributions made by corporate officials are directly or indirectly financed out of corporate funds. . . .

"Under the existing laws," he said, "a large part of the money raised from the business community for political purposes is given in fear of what would happen if it were not given."

Hike in SS Benefits Certain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A two-step, 11 per cent Social Security benefits increase for 29 million Americans today appeared almost certain of passage before Congress adjourns for the year.

The House began debate on its version of the increase Wednesday, and passage was considered a foregone conclusion, with Democrats and most Republicans supporting the bill.

The Senate Finance Committee Wednesday approved legislation almost identical to the House bill, except that the initial increase would come sooner.

Both bills call for an 11 per cent increase. The House bill would give an initial 7 per cent increase in April checks and the remaining 4 per cent in July checks. The Senate Finance Committee bill would give the initial 7 per cent immediately on enactment of the bill.
